The British are fighting hard in Mesopotamia, on the Lower Euphrates. Lenin and his Bolshevik nation, while discussing peace, trade, etc., with the allies, are fighting the Poles more savagely than ever. English are ordered and Americans are warned to leave Warsaw before conquering Bolshevism arrives.

Ireland is to be ruled by court-martial and trial by jury stopped for the present.

The French have just killed four hundred Arabs. A dispatch from Syria tells about that.

Spanish officers and men have been killed and many wounded, fighting in Morocco.

Young Turks, encouraged by the Bolsheviki, declare that fighting suits them and they mean to keep it up; they won't have anything to do with peace, no matter what anybody else says.

You are not surprised that Mr. Cox's managers wonder what they had better say about the peace league.

What was supposed to be the funeral of old Mars and the really and truly end of war is winding up in a first-class fight.

"The way of a man with a maid" puzzled the ancient writer of proverbs. He would be more puzzled today.

For instance, Mrs. Sokolowsky wanted her husband absolutely to herself. She threw a cup of acid in his face to spoil his good looks, but was too successful; he died.

On the other hand, Captain Norman Enos, who married Miss Gloria Chorinsol, discovering that he was not loved sufficiently, poisoned himself. He did the poisoning gradually, because he wanted to spend a while thinking about the lady who had tired of him, "Wholly absorbed in our love." As he was dying he wrote a really pathetic paragraph:

"It is now growing quite dark, and I am having considerable difficulty in writing. No more heartaches."

Mr. Enos and Mrs. Sokolowsky turned custom upside down. Usually, when a man is jealous, his animal inheritance makes him kill the woman and the other man too, if he can get him.

Women kill the woman that stands in their way, but do not kill the man—in ancient times when women's characters were formed, was unnecessary to protect the children and fight the bears.

A jury in Chicago convicted twenty members of the Communist Labor Party. They were sentenced to fine and imprisonment. Certain organizations protest that they were convicted for no crime other than free speech.

That is not accurate, according to a great one who said a blunder is worse than a crime.

It was feeble-minded blundering to plan in America communism, the passion of wealth in common, Soviet organization or anything of that kind. This country is only just beginning the period of private ownership, lot buying, house building, savings bank, and general economic and industrial survival-of-the-fittest campaign.

For one man wanting a radical change in this country you have one hundred wanting none. And of one hundred who do want a change, 99 per cent., truth must be told, are fakirs. One per cent. really desirable. Of 99 per cent. sure, will not win. The country needs education more than change.

Men are leaving the United States by hundreds of thousands went last year. Women are coming in by tens of thousands. White men talk, Providence does things. There are many unmarried women in Europe. Men go abroad. There are many unmarried men here; women come in.

And what is more important, this going and coming and intermarrying mixes up the human race, and that, within limits of color, is what nature wants.

A mongrel animal is worthless, but the mongrel human being is the ablest. Greece, Italy, France, England, America, Japan—the world's most successful nations—have been or are the most mixed of all nations as regards breeds.

This column criticized the plan of Senator Harding's advertising management to use bill boards extensively. It was suggested that political advertising be done in the smaller newspapers, especially country weeklies and small dailies.

The Poster Advertising Association, which says it does "about forty million dollars a year in poster advertising," protested against criticism of poster advertising.

There was no such criticism. But a man's views are influenced by what he reads sitting down, not by big letters on a bill board. And, as this writer has pointed out to Senator Harding, advertising should go first of all to the editors of country weeklies and the smaller local dailies. Every one of them has his important following. No bill board posting concern has any following.

POLES TO EVACUATE WARSAW

Enormous War Supplies It Is Feared Will Fall Into Hands of Russians

By International News Service.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The Poles are preparing to evacuate Warsaw, the capital, according to official dispatches to the French foreign office today.

The new seat of the Polish government has not yet been determined, it is understood here.

The civilian population has begun to flee from Warsaw. Enormous war supplies will inevitably fall into the hands of the Russians, it is feared.

The Poles have virtually abandoned all hope for an armistice with the Russians, the foreign office was advised.

Military dispatches show the Russians have crossed the Bug River on a front of more than sixty miles. The Poles retreated so rapidly they had no chance to destroy the bridges.

The retiring Polish troops have become demoralized all along the front north and east of Warsaw.

Fifty thousand Russian Red troops, preceded by large masses of cavalry, are driving in the Polish left wing, aiming to cut the Danzig "corridor" and sever railway communication between Warsaw and the port of Danzig. All the military supplies sent to Poland were shipped by way of Danzig. It is understood there are big supplies of war materials at Mlawa, which is in the path of the Russian army.

Curzon Authorized to Send Strong Note to Russia

By International News Service.

London, Aug. 4.—Russia's conquest of Poland is growing swiftly into a world problem, it was admitted by officials of the British foreign office today.

The British Cabinet has authorized Earl Curzon, British Foreign Secretary, to send a strong note to Moscow protesting against further delay in the armistice proceedings. Russia is warned that a continuance of Police Polite? Look at This Sample

The contention that politeness is a lost art among municipal employes in Boston was refuted by a traffic policeman on Tremont street, at Winter street.

Signalling to a woman who was attempting to cross the street diagonally, he waited until she drew near, and then, as he stemmed the flood of automobiles, he suavely remarked:

"Everyone must cross at the same place, madam. I will hold back the automobiles for you, and would like you to know that you appreciate our efforts."

The woman continued to say nothing.

GIRL LEAPS FROM THIRD STORY

Becomes Hysterical After Failure to Make Up With Sweetheart

Miss Beatrice Sanker, twenty-one years old, of No. 12 Willow place, Malden, is at the Malden Hospital as the result of injuries received when she jumped thirty-five feet from a third-story window after a quarrel with a former suitor.

At the hospital it is thought the girl injured her spine. She is suffering also from internal injuries.

Miss Sanker met her former sweetheart after an appointment had been made by a girl friend in an endeavor to patch up their differences.

According to friends the couple had quarrelled several weeks ago and the young lady returned a diamond ring to her sweetheart on his demand. Evidently the couple could not agree, and it is thought that while in a state of hysteria, the girl jumped from the window of her home.

TO SPEND $700,000,000 ON NEW RAILROAD WORK

New York, Aug. 4.—Approximately $700,000,000 will be spent by the railroads in 1920 on rehabilitation, according to an announcement made here by Howard Elliott, former chairman of the rate committee of the Association of Railroad Executives.

9,600,000-POUND SUGAR CARGO HERE FROM CUBA

The largest single cargo of sugar to come here from Cuba for some time was that delivered by the Danish steamship Nordsen, arriving from Nuevitas. Stowed in her hold were 20,000 bags of raw cane, weighing 9,600,000 pounds.

RUN ON PONZI ENDS

The run on Charles Ponzi ended today when at noon the Pi alley entrance to the office of the Securities Exchange Co. was denuded of noteholders, with only about a dozen inside awaiting payment.

SINN FEIN "ARSENAL" FOUND IN LONDON

London, Aug. 4.—What the police termed a Sinn Fein "arsenal" was discovered in the northeastern part of London today. The officers raided the premises of a chemist and found quantities of explosives as well as rifles which the British authorities had seized following the Dublin Easter rebellion in 1916.

ARMOUR & CO. INCREASE STOCK TO $400,000,000

Chicago, Aug. 4.—The reason for a $100,000,000 increase in the capitalization of Armour & Co., meat packers, it was said today at the home office, is that the company may have a "larger working capital." The new stock will be put on the market next year, Armour & Co. have been capitalized at $210,000,000. The increase will bring the total issue up to $400,000,000.

MAIL AIRPLANE STRIKES HOUSE WHILE ASCENDING

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 4.—One of the transcontinental airplanes, blazing a new mail route from New York to San Francisco, was wrecked here when it crashed into a house while taking off. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, Colonel E. H. Hartney and others in the machine were uninjured, although the plane was a total loss.

HULTMAN ON FOOD BOARD

Quincy Man Succeeds Sherburne as Head of Necessaries Commission

Governor Coolidge today appointed Eugene C. Hultman of Quincy to succeed Brigadier-General John H. Sherburne, resigned, as chairman of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life.

Hultman was born in 1875, was educated at the Adams and Thayer Preparatory Schools and Technology. He was a member of the old State Board of Health, field assistant to the United States Geological Survey.

At the hospital it is thought the girl injured her spine. She is suffering also from internal injuries.

Miss Sanker met her former sweetheart after an appointment had been made by a girl friend in an endeavor to patch up their differences.

According to friends the couple had quarrelled several weeks ago and the young lady returned a diamond ring to her sweetheart on his demand. Evidently the couple could not agree, and it is thought that while in a state of hysteria, the girl jumped from the window of her home.

GENERAL STRIKE IN DENVER THREATENS

Denver, Col., Aug. 4.—A general strike of organized labor in Denver threatened today, following an executive meeting of the trades and labor assembly at which a committee of 200 was chosen to call upon Mayor Bailey to urge that the city force the Denver Tramway Company to accede to the striking carmen's demands. Street car service continued paralyzed today.

SWINDLERS COLLECT BERRY-PICKING FEES

Westfield, Aug. 4.—A new angle to the berry-picking privilege charge in this section has cropped out in the discovery that many persons, not owners of land, are posing as landlords and taking money from pickers. The majority of farmers have been charging 10 cents to each picker. One faker tried to collect from the man who owned the land where many were picking.

JURY GETS BARNEY'S STORY

Convict in East Cambridge Court to Reveal Truth About Auto Gang

Herman L. Barney, serving a sentence at the State prison in Charlestown for complicity in the killing of Patrolman Deininger of Boston, went before the Middlesex County Grand Jury today in East Cambridge, under oath to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth concerning organized automobile thievery in Greater Boston.

Pale and haggard, Barney arrived at the Court House at 9:30 o'clock in custody of Prison Officer Daniel Griffin. They came from Charlestown in Warden Shattuck's car. Barney wore the blue and white stripe suit in which he was attired when he returned to the prison in June, following his sensational escape. It was the common testimony of those who saw him today for the first time in several weeks that he looked rocky. He was puffing a cigarette.

OFFICIALS CONFER.

For twenty minutes Barney held the interest of Grand Jurors and prosecuting attorneys with the story of his career as an automobile thief, but he had not reached the more important parts of his narrative when a recess was called Deputy Attorney Tufts to the State House to testify before the Governor and Executive Council in a commutation matter. The examination of Barney was thereupon suspended.

Other developments of apparent importance today in connection with the Greater Boston auto scandal were:

Attorney Edwin H. Abbott, Jr., representing Attorney-General J. Weston Allen as special assistant, visited East Cambridge and had a lengthy conference with District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex. Neither would make known the tenor of their talk, but it was known to be the beginning of the Attorneys-

2 RESCUED OFF NANTASKET

Victims of Capsizing, Saved Brighton and Somerville Men, by Men in Motorboat

William Tobin of Brighton and Charles Murchard of Somerville had a narrow escape from drowning when the rowboat in which they were fishing about two miles off Nantasket capsized. They were rescued by John Joyce, proprietor of the Gun Rock House, and Raymond Ghent, who were in a motorboat about a mile nearer shore when the accident occurred.

Joyce and Ghent had observed the others fishing and presently noticed that the two men were no longer in the boat. They immediately started toward the spot and located Tobin and Murchard in the water.

The latter, a good swimmer, was attempting to hold up Tobin, who is a heavy man, and who had gone down for the second time when the rescuers arrived. Both victims were taken to the Gun Rock House, where Dr. Edward H. Schott of Cohasset was summoned and worked for a long time over Tobin. He was finally revived, but is said to be in a serious condition.

SEVERAL INJURED IN PROVIDENCE CRUSH

Providence, R. I., Aug. 4.—One man was seriously injured and several other persons, including a Boston woman, slightly hurt when a motorcycle driven by Albert D. Minet of Norwood crashed into an automobile containing a party from Boston and Portland, Me. Milner is in the Rhode Island Hospital.

The victim who is perhaps fatally hurt is George Erickson of Auburn, whose skull is fractured. He was on the motorcycle with Milner at the time. The entire party was thrown out and taken to the hospital. All except Milner, Erickson and Mrs. Florence Jackman of No. 79 Walnut street, Portland, Me., were later discharged. Mrs. Jackman is suffering from a fractured ankle. The others are: Joseph F. Hoagland of Portland, Mrs. Hoagland, Polly Hoagland of No. 23 Howes street, Dorchester, William Tuttle of Portland and Miss Mildred Jackman.

WOMEN IN POLITICAL RACE IN LEXINGTON

$500,000 IN NOTES TAKEN IN PROBE

Charles Ponzi has baffled, thus far, all attempts to learn his secret.

Federal investigators have been unable to determine the source of his profits, it was learned today.

Although Edwin L. Pride, the government auditor, has been probing Ponzi's records for some days, it is known that he has been completely baffled in his attempt thus far to learn the money making secret.

While no official would discuss the matter, the American was informed that the Federal authorities are absolutely helpless, although hopeful that the continued investigation may reveal information of importance.

Today Auditor Pride visited the Federal Building and was closeted with First Assistant United States Attorney Daniel A. Shea for half an hour. The auditor carried two bundles which he said contained notes redeemed yesterday by Ponzi, estimated to amount to nearly $500,000.

The exact figures were not given, but judging from the size of the crowd that besieged the Ponzi office yesterday, and the fact that $418,522 was paid out Monday, the estimate was believed to be conservative.

George W. Storch, chief accountant of the Department of Justice, who was said to have taken up the probe of Ponzi's financial operations under the direction of Attorney-General Palmer, was not in evidence at the Federal building up to noon today. No statement was given out as to his activities.

The Federal authorities will continue their investigation of the Securities Exchange Company, even though it may be found to be solvent. This statement was made by an official who explained that the government is determined to learn whether or not Ponzi's methods are legal.

It is pointed out that the government inquiry goes deeper than the question of solvency and will include a complete investigation of the manner in which the "mystery man" makes his alleged enormous profit.

The run on Ponzi dwindled considerably today, there being less than 100 noteholders outside the Pi alley entrance to the School street office at opening time, as contrasted to the clamoring thousands of yesterday.

The majority of Ponzi investors

Wilson Has 'Dry' Joke on Daniels

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Secretary of the Interior Payne told President Wilson and his cabinet about a home brew made from berries which he discovered on his recent trip to Alaska with Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

"Did Daniels drink it?" the President is reported to have queried.

"He did," Payne replied, the story goes.

"It was hickless, then," said the President, according to report.

GOVERNMENT TRIES TO FIND HOW PONZI MAKES HIS MILLIONS

FEDERAL AGENTS ARE ORDERED TO DIG UP SECRET

seemed to have regained their confidence, despite the fact that announcement was made of the return from New York of Assistant Attorney-General Albert Hurwitz with valuable information.

ONLY A FEW WITH NOTES.

Although many persons stood in line all day yesterday without reaching the window of the Securities Exchange Company, where notes were being redeemed, there were only eleven on hand at 7 o'clock today. Twenty-four hours previously there were 321 to actual count.

The secrecy with which the investigation is now being conducted supports the belief that the officials working on the case prefer to remain silent until certain evidence for which they are now searching is in such shape as to warrant action.

They report, however, that the investigation has failed to bring to light anything of an irregular character in Ponzi's business.

Assistant Attorney-General Albert Hurwitz, who has made a careful investigation of the New York banks through which Ponzi is said to have conducted much of his foreign business, has returned to Boston with valuable information. No information is forthcoming of whether or not the facts obtained in New York by Mr. Hurwitz is detrimental to Ponzi.

Samuel Spring, appointed by State Attorney-General J. Weston Allen to investigate Ponzi's operations, took up the case today. He will supplement Mr. Pride in the auditing of Ponzi's accounts.

Ponzi Pays All Comers at His Manchester Office

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 4—There has been no indications of a run on the Securities Exchange office in this city as yet. But few persons are calling at the office and the clerks except at brief intervals, have little to do.

Joseph Bruno, State agent for Charles Ponzi, said that he had heard nothing about when he was instructed Monday to be ready to resume business tomorrow. He said that not three or four of the Manchester subscribers appeared at the office in the course of a day to collect their promised minus interest.

About forty, who had subscribed in Sanford, Maine, before the office in Portland was opened, and whose subscriptions were credited to his office, appeared and were given their money. Among the largest amounts paid today was one for $13,000, and several more ranging from one to three thousand dollars.

Ponzi Orders Books at Lawrence Withheld

Lawrence, Aug. 4—Percy Lamb, manager of the Securities Exchange office here, read to hundreds of inquirers at the local office a telegram from Charles Ponzi telling him to make all payments due.

The run on the Lawrence has practically subsided, and the stream of inquiring investors keeps up.

In the crowd gathered at the Lawrence office were many women. In the waiting line nervous men talked of swindling their orders for automobiles.

"I went in with Ponzi when the game was young and I am in it to stay to the finish," said Lamb in one of his frequent visits to the waiting line. "All I have made I am ready to turn back if Ponzi is wrong, but I will stake my last dollar on his honesty."

Says Ponzi Could Have Made 582 Per Cent.

Providence, Aug. 4—Charles Ponzi's explanation of the manner in which he says he made millions for himself and his investors is logical, according to John G. Canfield, manager of a big investment brokerage house here.

Canfield declares Ponzi could have made the advertised 50 per cent for his followers and still made a profit of 532½ per cent for himself within the prescribed forty-five days, by speculating in Italian lira.

His explanation follows: "If Ponzi bought Italian lira on a 10 point margin on February 2 of this year he would have benefited by a 2320 per cent. rise in six months. This is a rise of 5432½ per cent. in forty-five days. He would thus have made $582.50 on a single transaction over the original investment of $100."

Mr. Canfield declares that Ponzi's success lies in "picking" the right kind of exchange. If he had speculated in Italian futurities he would have lost. In fact, there is still time for him to lose his entire fortune by dabbling in any exchange in the future.

Mr. Canfield says that Ponzi could have made half as much as he claims by speculating in German marks early this year, but inclines to the belief that he worked through the Italian exchange, as that is his country, and he found it easy to get agents there.

Grandpa Barron Has Loyal Rooters

Clarence W. Barron of the Boston News Bureau, against whom Charles Ponzi has filed suit for $5,000,000, apparently finds the suit a source of humor. His paper prints the following comments on the matter, contributed by his grandchildren, the Hugh referred to being named after his son-in-law, Hugh Bancroft:

PONDERINGS ON PONZI'S PI ALLEY FINANCE

First grandchild—Jessie, aged twelve—"O, mama, I never supposed to live to see big black headlines in the paper that grandpa had been sued for $5,000,000. Isn't it terrible?"

Second grandchild—(Hugh, aged ten and of financial promise)—"That isn't the question. Can he pay?"

Small voice from the corner—"Of course he can. If Mr. Ponzi can borrow $200 and make $12,000,000 in seven days, can't grandpa borrow $100 and make five million in a year?"

POLICEMAN LUCIA QUITS FORCE AFTER COURT CASE

Two Medford policemen resigned today. The resignation of Charles Grimaldo, one of the most popular officers of the force, came as a surprise. He would give no reason. The other resignation was that of Edward Lucia, who had been suspended pending investigation on charges involving himself and Mrs. Ila Witt Derby. The court charges were disposed of yesterday, Mrs. Derby and Lucia being freed.

TEN CARS PILED UP IN NEW HAVEN WRECK

Willimatic, Conn., Aug. 4—Ten freight cars were piled up in a cut near the Andover station, on the Hartford division of the New Haven road, ten miles west of here, when a brake beam dropped on a steel car of a fast freight. The train comprised forty-one cars and the roadbed was torn up for a half a mile. No one was hurt.

HERO OF 80 GETS $500 PROFIT

Aged Italian Farmer Will Go Back to Italy on Ponzi's Money

Eighty years old, veteran of the war for Italian independence more than half a century ago, bearing medals bestowed by three kings and radiant with satisfaction as he left the cashier's window in Ponzi's establishment today with $1,500—such was Cristoforo Sassi of South Framingham, former and resident of America for 60½ years.

The money, represented an investment of $1,000 made by Cristoforo's daughter, Mrs. Elisabeth Deselli, plus a 50 per cent profit.

Cristoforo's sole wish was due today. Whatever suspicions others may harbor, Cristoforo Sassi has confidence in Ponzi. He did not join the throngs outside Ponzi's doors until his note reached maturity.

He was a picturesque figure with his medals and his record of honorable service in Italy's long struggle against Austria. One of the decorations was conferred by Napoleon III, one by King Victor Emmanuel II, and the third by King Umberto.

Christoforo saw service from 1855 to 1864 and fought in many famous battles, including those of Turrico, Magenta, Marignan, Folferino and Montebello.

With the thousands paid over by Ponzi's establishment today, the veteran plans to go back to Italy and tread once more the soil for which his countrymen so recently fought anew.

CHARGES ENGLAND TRIES TO 'PORTUGALIZE' FRANCE

Paris, Aug. 4—The charge that Great Britain is trying to "Portugalize" France is made in the newspaper Paris Midi today. It is supported by similar editorials in the newspapers L'Avenir and Intransigeant. "England wants to reduce us to the state of economic vassalage like Portugal," said the Paris Midi. "If Portugal takes a decision contrary to English interests the British Cabinet discreetly advises Lisbon and the Portuguese Cabinet then annuls the decision. Lisbon yields because Portugal is the financial and commercial prisoner of England; true, France has 40,000,000 inhabitants but it is also true that England rules many millions."

her present attitude will result in cancellation of plans for the proposed general peace conference, and the instituting of measures by the allies for the protection of Polish independence.

Since the Boulogne conference it has been impossible for the British government to communicate with George Tchitcherin, the Soviet Foreign Minister, but belief was expressed today in official circles that the Polish demand for Leon Trotsky, the Soviet War Minister, has obtained the upper hand in the inner councils of Moscow, and is meeting successfully for "a world conquest for Communistic ideals."

With the Russian army still smashing its way nearer to Warsaw, the British Foreign office officially stated that if the armistice negotiations between Poland and Russia are delayed a few days longer it will result in the abrupt expulsion of the Bolshevik trade mission, headed by M. Krassin. This is a direct threat to the Soviet government at Moscow. The sine and substance of it is that Russia must agree to make a liberal peace with Poland at once and withdraw her army from Polish soil or the economic blockade now existing against Russia will be materially tightened.

Premier Lloyd George has arranged for an immediate conference with Premier Millerand of France. The time and place have not yet been announced.

According to a Russian wireless dispatch, picked up at Berlin, the Russians planned to be in Warsaw before next Monday. Already the Russians are close to the "Corridor" between Warsaw and Dantzig, marked out by the Paris conference.

Says Reds Threaten World as Germans Did in 1914

By International News Service.

London, Aug. 4—The perils confronting the world as a result of the threatening campaign of the Russian Red army against Poland parallel those existing during 1914, according to the Globe today in its comment upon the Eastern European situation.

The Westminster Gazette emphasizes that the allies are dealing with a powerful nation, flushed with victory and commanding the greatest mounted army in the world.

The entire press is agitated over the situation and all the newspapers today carried page-wide headlines on the news from Poland.

American Fliers Still Missing in Red Lines

London, Aug. 4—No word has been received of Captain Merriam Cooper of Indianapolis and Captain George Seth of Richmond, Va., members of the Kosciusko flying squadron, who came down out of control in Red territory a week ago, according to the Polish Legation here today.

The two Americans, who with several countrymen had been fighting with the Bolsheviki for months, were downed by Red machines.

RUSSIANS BREAK OFF PARLEY WITH FINLAND

Copenhagen, Aug. 4—Negotiations between Soviet Russia and Finland at Dorpat have been broken off, said a dispatch from Dorpat today. The Russian Soviet envoys rejected Finland's commercial proposals, saying Russia would be able to do without a trade agreement.

BULLETINS

LONDON—Arabs attacked the British troops northwest of Hella, but were repulsed with the loss of 130 men, said a Constantinople dispatch.

LONDON—"Four French transports are disembarking 7,000 Russian soldiers at Odessa," said a Moscow wireless dispatch picked up here.

LABOR FIGHTS OVER LEAGUE

Convention at Lynn Lines Up Over Gompers' Resolution Endorsed at Montreal

Friends and foes of the League of Nations lined up for a final test of strength today in the convention of the State branch of the American Federation of Labor at Lynn.

Charges were made that Gompers men were "loading" in an effort to get the convention to endorse the wine League resolution and that passed by the national body in convention in Montreal a month ago.

Sentiment seemed against the League as it stands, or with the reservations recommended at Montreal. Friends of Ireland were expected to make strenuous objection to the resolution.

The convention today passed a resolution asking that Governor Coolidge remove Fred J. Crowley as trustee of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company. Mr. Crowley was appointed trustee as a labor union man.

H. P. Hood & Sons were condemned for alleged unfairness to organized labor; a resolution was passed favoring the licensing of barbers; and the per capita tax increased from one cent to 1 and one-half cents a month.

$85,000 IN TWO SUITS BY BIGELOW HEIRS

Bertha Bigelow of Weymouth has brought suit for $60,000 in the Superior Court at Dedham, against Eleanor Bigelow as administratrix of the estate of Henry M. Bigelow, alleging the administratrix owes the plaintiff $35,000 for money received by the defendant for the plaintiff's use. A similar suit for $25,000 is brought against the same defendant by Mary E. Bigelow, who alleges the administratrix is depriving her of the use of $10,000, and in a third action brought by Eleanor Bigelow, who seeks to recover $60,000, it is alleged that the administratrix is withholding $35,000.

PITTSFIELD GIRL KILLED BY WHISKEY LADEN AUTO

Chappaqua, N. Y., Aug. 4—Coroner W. W. Mills of Chappaqua, was called to Armonk, to investigate the death of six-year-old Hilda Westerhoff, of Pittsfield, Mass., who was run over and killed by an automobile, while leaving her parents' touring car. Sergeant Daniel Faher of the State constabulary, upon examining the contents of a truck, alleges that he found a barrel of whiskey and twenty cases of liquor. He arrested Charles Paloni, the driver, charged with violating the prohibition laws.

MELROSE PRIEST TO SING FIRST HIGH MASS AUG. 15

Gerald F. Kilb, who will be ordained to the priesthood August 8 at St. Joseph's College, Princeton, N. J., will sing his first high mass Sunday, August 15, at St. Mary's Church in Melrose. He is the son of Mrs. Frank A. Kilb, formerly of Melrose and attended schools there for some years.

BARNEY BEFORE GRAND JURY

Convict, Pale and Haggard, Appears to Tell of Auto Gang's Work

General's effort to get at the facts relative to alleged complicity of public officials and auto thieves.

James Smith, thirty-eight, of Gore street, East Cambridge, was arrested at his home by Patrolmen Thomas Stokes, John Stokes and Charles Mullaly on a John Doe warrant charging him with the theft of a touring car of unknown ownership. The alleged offence took place two or three weeks ago. The police say Smith came to New York. He returned a few days ago.

TO ASK WARRANTS.

It was announced that applications would be made by Judge Almy tomorrow in Cambridge District Court for warrants for the arrest of a Cambridge police official and "several" business men, charged with automobile stealing. Chief Fallon, alias "Chick," described as a pal of Herman L. Barney, will, it was announced, be an important witness.

Following his arrival at the Court House today, Barney was taken into the private office of District Attorney Tufts for a long talk with that official and First Assistant George Stanley Harvey. Before their talk Barney was given two or three minutes with his mother and stepfather. When his talk with Tufts and Stanley was over he was removed by officers to the rooms of the State Police in the Court House to await his summons to the grand jury room.

Tufts and Harvey went before the jury with him.

A crowd of considerable size was on hand in nearby streets when Barney arrived. All were impressed by the change for the worse in the young man's appearance.

CANTON REFUSES TO BUY BLUE HILL RAILWAY

Canton, Aug. 4—The Board of Trade has discarded the proposal to buy the property of the Blue Hill street railway and operate it by public subscription because it was estimated that the cost of rehabilitating the suspended line and purchasing new rolling stock would be so great that it could not operate at a profit. Instead it was decided to take steps at once to incorporate a bus line company. Until that time the citizens will be asked to subscribe funds to operate a temporary bus line.

The owners of the suspended Blue Hill street railway announced today that they have practically concluded the sale as junk of the eighteen miles of rails with lines running to Stoughton, to Mattapan and branch lines to Sharon, Norwood and Readville for a price of $59,000. Perry, Burton & Doane are the prospective purchasers.

TWO BAY STATE CITIES' CENSUS TOTALS BOOSTED

Washington, Aug. 4—The revised census figures for two Massachusetts cities, made public by the Census Bureau, slightly increased the population of Worcester and Fitchburg. Previous figures gave Worcester 179,741, revised, 179,754. Fitchburg, previous report, 41,013; revised, 41,020.

SIR AUCKLAND GEDDES HAS ARRIVED IN MAINE

Bark Harbor, Maine, Aug. 4—Sir Auckland Geddes has arrived at the Islesboro cottage, which he leased from George T. Rice of Boston. The British ambassador motored here from Virginia, leaving his car at Rockland and crossing to Islesboro by steamer.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN CRUEL, CRANKY AND STINGY, SAYS HIS WIFE

JUNK AUTO HIS LOVE TOKEN

But Bride Doesn't Blame Him, Because He Is an "Artist"

New York, Aug. 4—Charlie (of the custard pie) promised his "Pickle Love," Mildred a "gorgeous pre-limousine," she says. It was to bear her home from the hospital where she was recuperating after the birth of her baby.

But the "gorgeous new limousine" turned out to be the sort of car Charlie runs into slag piles and telephone poles in his movies!

Anyhow, according to Mrs. Charlie Chaplin (Mildred Harris) was the crowning bit of "mental cruelty" that was to land one of America's most talked of movie romances in the courts.

HOW SHE SUFFERED

Mrs. Chaplin, at the Hotel Chatham, after she had told of the reconciliation with her screen-idol husband just before the birth of their baby, said:

"You ought to hear about my limousine, since it was the brightest thing I had to look forward to during the long days in the hospital! When it came to Charlie for me all the pictures of Rolls-Royce tumbled in a heap. It was an old second-hand taxi-de-down that Charlie had swapped a studio car for. I went home to the limousine. It wasn't interested enough to come for me or even be at the house when I arrived."

Mrs. Chaplin did not seem surprised that proceedings had been begun in Los Angeles by her lawyers since she had left the case in their hands. Talking of her husband and her grievances the slim little golden-haired wife said:

"Some newspapers have said I was using Mr. Chaplin on grounds of cruelty. It was neither physical nor cruelty. He never struck me nor hurt me physically. He did cause me unendurable suffering and anguish during the long intervals he stayed away from home."

"SOCIALIST TENDENCIES."

"I don't really blame him for anything. He's an artist, and artists, I suppose, must let their temperaments. He used to walk and walk for hours at night 'thinking,' as he explained it. The harder it rained the longer he walked and harder he thought. I never seemed to please him and he was nervous and irritable.

"Then, you know, he had Socialistic tendencies and he disliked my upholstering them on me. He told me two dresses and a topcoat were enough for me and should last two years. One automobile in a family was enough, he said, and I always had that one for himself. The result was that I had to go and find myself his furious about the bills.

"And he wasn't only stingy with me. He was with the rags if he hadn't looked after him and bought things for him. He's an even money. I don't think he had a decent pair of socks when we were married, and his shirts and underthings and pajamas were frightful, all full of holes and tears and rips. Mother looked after all that, and when she had him fixed up he was delighted.

HE WAS SWEET SOMETIMES.

"We never read the same things or enjoyed the same things. Yet he could be an ardent sweetheart, and if he hadn't left me so many times and shown so plainly he wanted his freedom I wouldn't have started the separation suit. The divorce suit is new to me.

"Like all artists, Charlie loved blood and life and youth. During the months before the baby came he was fretful and awfully irritable, even though he'd set his heart on having the little one. And when it died, soon after birth, he didn't seem interested in looking out for me.

"He didn't come to the hospital to take me home. He went to work at the house he was building at the studio and couldn't wait. After that everything was over with us. I don't know what he's doing, but he'll be all right.

BROKER SUES FOR $20,000

John E. Tucker Brings Action Against Wife's Parents at Deerfield, N. H.

Deerfield, N. H., Aug. 4—Alleging alienation of his wife's affections, John E. Tucker, a Boston broker, has brought a $20,000 suit against Mr. and Mrs. William C. French of New Britain, Conn., and Deerfield, parents of Mrs. Tucker.

Mrs. Tucker is twenty-six years old and the couple were married Nov. 10, 1918, one day before the signing of the armistice and while Mr. Tucker was a lieutenant in the field artillery service.

Soon afterward, Mr. Tucker charges, his wife went to live with her mother. He has since endeavored to have her return to him without avail, he says.

LEAGUE ALLIED WAR WEAPON

Britain and France Plan to Make America Subject to Their Dictation

San Sebastian, Spain, Aug. 4—The League of Nations, according to one of the inner ring here, is about to degenerate definitely into a sword of Damocles suspended perpetually over the head of Germany, with only American acquiescence needed to make France and Great Britain the supreme masters of the destinies of the world.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE TO RULE.

Faithfully disguised as "an organization to prevent war," the League plans to set the final seal of approval on a scheme whereby, should the United States join the league, she will be forever subordinated in all military and naval matters to Great Britain and France, the army being under General Foch's order and the navy under the London Admiralty.

Although cleverly camouflaged the scheme, which is to be put forward by M. Leon Bourgeois, French spokesman in the council of the League of Nations through General Payolle, is the identical proposition to which America refused to agree when the League's charter was drawn up at the Hotel Crillon in Paris last year.

LEAGUE AS WAR WEAPON.

Thus the League would depart automatically from its former moribund, harmless character and would become the most powerful weapon in the hands of militaristic powers that has ever been devised.

A general observer participating in the seance here remarked to Universal Service, "The United States should understand before joining the League that she is risking placing her military and naval forces in subjection to a group of diplomats who intend to use them in Russia and Germany."

Mary Is Best Girl in World, Says Moore

London, Aug. 4—"Mary is the best girl in the world and I love her still," said Owen Moore, former husband of Mary Pickford. He is in England to help in the making of two films.

"I am trying to forget," he said, "that I may wake up some morning and find myself still married to her, although I hope for her sake that her Nevada divorce decree will remain valid."

ACCUSE YOUTH OF KILLING BOY SCOUT

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 4—Norman Kelly, fifteen years old, was the slayer of Edward Pokgrave, a Boy Scout, who was shot dead in the woods, according to confessions of three boys, who claim to have witnessed the tragedy.

Rockefeller's Nickel Is Refused by Boy

Lenox, Aug. 4.—John D. Rockefeller's classic gift of a nickel to good little boys was refused today by Brian Howe, five-year-old grandson of the proprietor of the Hotel Aspinwall.

The child shook the aged financier's hand off his shoulder, refused to listen to the usual lecture about frugality, and announced in shrill tones he wanted neither the oil king's money nor his friendship.

The unsuccessful presentation took place on the veranda of the hotel, where Mr. Rockefeller and several friends are stopping.

Rockefeller had better luck with Edsel Ellsinger, a pretty five-year-old miss staying here for the Summer. He parted with her five cents proffer, after giving her several thousand dollars' worth of good advice about saving her money.

Clarence M. Dewey was also stopping here, and he and Mr. Rockefeller had a long reunion on the hotel veranda today. Mr. Rockefeller gave Chauncey a 1929 nickel and a fierce circumcut. "For luck," he said. Mr. Depew opined after listening to several of Chauncey's stories that it had other significance.

The Rockefeller party lunched today with his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Prentice, at Mr. Hope Farm.

FIND COYLE GUILTY OF ATTACK ON OFFICER

Lawrence Coyle, twenty-five years old, of Dorchester street, South Boston, was found guilty of assault and battery, assault with intent to kill, and using improper language, by Judge Lomasney in the South Boston Court today. Sentence was suspended until tomorrow. Patrolman Lyman W. Sawtelle sent to McNary Park to disperse a crowd and arrest Coyle, found the latter, wrenched his revolver from Sawtelle's hands and in the scrimmage the gun went off, a bullet shattering Coyle's head.

GETS PERMIT TO ADOPT NEWBURYPORT WOMAN

New York, Aug. 4—Captain Arthur H. Clark, aged 40 years, manager emeritus of Lloyds in America, has been granted permission to adopt as his daughter Mrs. Mabel S. G. Fowle, 52 years old, of Newburyport, Mass., by Judge Mayer Hermorly of this city.

Captain Clark desires to make Mrs. Fowle his heir in consideration for her kindness and services in nursing him through a long illness of pneumonia at Massachusetts several months ago.

ATTACHES PROPERTY FOR $50,000 IN DIVORCE SUIT

In a suit for divorce filed in the Superior Court for Suffolk County by Florence M. Clem of Boston against her husband, Harold Clem, on the alleges infidelity on his part, and names Margaret Constantine of Cliftondale as a co-respondent.

The couple were married at Boston on November 7, 1906. By consent of the court, Mrs. Clem has attached property of her husband to the amount of $50,000.

$15,000 FIRE ON FARM AT NEWBURY

Newbury, Aug. 4—The home of Nelson Lufkin on the Parker River with hay, two sheds and other outbuildings and a large number of chickens were destroyed by fire with a loss of $15,000. Help was summoned from Newburyport.

Mr. Little was badly burned about the hands and face and was taken to St. Anna Jaques Hospital, Newburyport. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil stove.

SUES FOR $19,542 IN PARTNERSHIP ACCOUNTING

New York, Aug. 4—Frank M. Sanders has filed suit against James J. Laying, Jr., of a wealthy family, for $19,342. Sanders alleges Laying converted this amount of partnership funds to his own use. The defendant is out under $10,000 bail. Laying's father-in-law, Mitchell Spencer, was a former partner of J. P. Morgan, and is now active in the promotion of railroad official and held many executive positions in Mid-Western banks.

NEXT SENATE TO BE 'BONE DRY'

Prediction of Prohibition Leaders Who See Disappointment for "Wets"

Washington, Aug. 4.—Prohibition leaders here are jubilant over the prospect that the next Senate will be "Bone Dry."

They are not worrying over Presidential candidates, nor even about the complexion of the House, though they are preparing to wage an intensive fight in every State to maintain the overwhelming "dry" majority in the lower branch of Congress.

Their jubilation is the result of a careful check of the Senate situation, which has just been completed.

LACK EIGHT VOTES.

"Without counting any doubtful Senators—using as a basis of calculation only those whose attitude on the prohibition question is definitely known—we have in the ranks of those who are not up for re-election this year within eight votes of enough to keep the 'wets' from winning," declared Dr. E. C. Dinwiddie.

Dr. Dinwiddie has just retired as legislative superintendent of the anti-saloon league to become chairman of the American executive committee arranging for the fifth International Congress against alcohol, which meets in Washington, December 21-27.

"In other words," Dr. Dinwiddie explained, "the number of sure 'dry' votes among the 'holdovers' makes it necessary for no less than only eight of the thirty-two Senators to be elected in November. There is no doubt that many more than eight of the thirty-two seats to be filled will be occupied by 'dry' Senators. A majority of the Senators standing for election are 'dry' and their opponents in a majority of cases are 'dry.'"

NO HOPE FOR "WETS."

Senator Sheppard, Democrat, of Texas, the "dry" leader in the Senate, confirmed Dr. Dinwiddie's analysis of the situation in the Senate. He declared the voters, who are expecting the Volstead law to be repealed, or even modified, are "due for a sad disappointment." The Senate is "dry," Sheppard declared, and it will remain so after the November election without a doubt.

HYDE PARK WOMEN TAKE CANNING LESSONS

Scores of mothers and their daughters are resorting to Hyde Park, attend canning sessions twice a week in the Greenwood School under the auspices of the city of Boston and in conjunction with the State Normal School. Miss Clara Belle Bowser, agent, and her assistant, Miss Clare Zimmerman, conduct classes from 9 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock afternoon on Tuesday and Thursday.

135 MORE WOMEN VOTERS REGISTER

The city election commissioners registered 135 Boston women as voters, making a total of 2-7 ten thousandths of the special period designated for the registration of women. If the 36th state ratifies the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution in time, these women will be eligible to vote at the state primary.

ARLINGTON BUSINESS MEN AT LAKE PEARL

The annual outing of the Arlington Board of Trade was held yesterday at Lake Pearl, Wrentham. Business places were closed. A program of sports, including a baseball game, was carried out. The committee in charge included Chairman Lewis, David Buttrick and Rufus W. Blake.

Paper Suits Selling for 12 Cents in London

Washington, Aug. 4.—Paper suits made in Germany have been introduced in vast quantities into England as a means of combating the high cost of clothing, and have proved both economical and durable.

This was the substance of a dispatch received by the Department of Commerce from the American Consulate General in London. The dispatch says in part:

"These ready made suits are cut in English styles and are said to be the best quality of paper texture. They can be forwarded from Germany at a thousand for one hundred twenty pounds sterling, F. O. B., which is the selling price of all two shillings, six pence, to ten shillings, six pence a suit.

"Last month, forty thousand of these suits were imported by a firm of transport agents from Germany via Holland, and another consignment of 200,000 suits is on the way. Further consignments are expected to arrive at frequent intervals.

"The larger number of the suits have been re-exported to India and South America, where they have been found ideal clothing for tropical climes. Some merchants in London are of the opinion that, in view of the present high prices of clothing, there are wide possibilities in paper suits, especially in the industrial districts if they could be cut more in the English style and to English tastes.

"The agents who are dealing in these suits state they have been buying under the present rate of exchange it is possible for a man to purchase a new suit once a week, and that over a period of twelve months the entire cost would no less than the price of one West-End suit."

WOMEN PUT UP DANGER SIGNAL

Suffrage Situation in Tennessee Called Serious and Defeat Is Feared

By International News Service.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 4.—The outlook for the suffrage amendment being ratified by the Tennessee Legislature as an aid today to national leaders here put out distress signals.

Miss Anita Pollitzer, national legislative secretary of the woman's party, telegraphed Abby Scott Baker, political chairman, that the situation is "very serious" and demanding "national attention." Mrs. Baker is in Ohio, where she has conferences arranged with both Governor Cox and Senator Harding.

"Developments convince me the situation is very serious," wired Miss Pollitzer. "We face the same type as in Delaware, national anti-suffrage influences making headway under pretence of constitutionality. I regard the situation as critical, and think it demands national attention. Opposition at work using every means in power. If quick work is not done we will be defeated in Tennessee."

Recent "flops" by legislators who had been pledged to suffrage are said to have caused the alarm. All polls show an insufficient number of pledged votes.

Commission Rule for Worcester Urged

Worcester, Aug. 4—Rev. William B. Pratt, executive secretary of the Worcester Federation of Churches, thinks the time has come when Worcester should have a commission form of government. "Such a commission, headed by a city manager with real authority," Dr. Pratt says, "has become a necessity."

The new demand for a commission followed discussion of what some city officials call the "crime wave." Mayor Sullivan describes it as a "sudden outburst of lawlessness, which occurs in all cities at periods."

Chief of Police Hill refers to the trouble as an epidemic. "I do not believe," he says, "that there is more crime this year, but it appears as if there were because holdups and thefts have been concentrated into a few weeks."

"The root of our difficulty," Dr. Pratt maintains, "is in our form of government. It puts a premium upon qualities such as cunning, self-seeking and personal dickering and would bankrupt any great business enterprise."

Mother Wears Rags to Buy Baby Finery

New York, Aug. 4—Because she wanted her baby to have pretty clothes, Nellie Kelly, aged twenty-four, an unmarried mother, wore rags and slept in the parks until she was arrested here on a charge of vagrancy. The baby is only five weeks old, yet the mother had slept with it in the open, she said, for nearly a week.

She told the court that her relatives would not accept her, and that she "couldn't stand to see little one wear rags," so she sacrificed her own personal appearance for the child's sake.

The girl would allow no one in the court to touch the baby, fearing it would be taken from her. She was committed to St. Mary's Home.

Goetz Made Proctor

In Smith Halls of the Harvard freshman dormitory group Colonel H. Goetz, commanding officer of the Harvard R. O. T. C., is to act as proctor, having been assigned a five-room suite. The colonel has just returned to his duties at Harvard after six weeks spent as an instructor in equitation at Camp Knox, Louisville.

TO SEEK SHARE OF WORLD'S OIL

Senator Phelan to Lead Fight of U. S. Against England and France

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Legislation to place the United States on a competitive footing with Great Britain and France in the development of foreign oil reserves will be urged during the next session of Congress.

Members of the Senate, who fear foreign powers will control the oil supply, look to Senator Phelan of California to lead the fight for the participation of the United States in the foreign development movement.

The recent action of France and England in forming a combination for the acquisition of an adequate supply for the needs of the two countries is looked upon here as a move to control the supply of the world, according to Congressional leaders.

The American plan as originally outlined by Senator Phelan has been indorsed by the Departments of Interior and Commerce.

Senator Phelan requested the Department of Commerce to inform him of the plans of the British government that he might more intelligently prepare legislation to meet the British competition.

"It appears the British government is definitely going into the oil business," the Department of Commerce informed him. "During the war period it acquired two-thirds of the stock of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company. This company has an exclusive concession for oil exploration throughout all of Persia, except the five northern provinces, and has valuable concessions in Mesopotamia and other parts of the world.

"It seems imperative that our governments must take the course or else find a way of preventing so far as possible the control of the world's sources of oil supply by the nationals of foreign countries," the Commerce Department said.

DIVORCE SIMPLE IN RUSSIA

Just Register Your Desire to Quit Married Life and in Two Weeks You Are Free

New York, Aug. 4—Soviet Russia has solved its divorce problem by introducing the time clock system into marriage.

A Soviet pair desiring to marry, simply go to the office set aside for the purpose, register their intention to be man and wife, and presto—the marriage is a fact.

If performance there is a failing out later on, either of the parties makes his way back to the place of registry and goes through the same motions. Any time he registers—out. It is the time clock system, punch your ticket when you enter married heaven, punch it when you go out.

The only obstacle to be met between married folks and divorce is a delay of two weeks between the declaration of the desire and the accomplished fact. This is done in order to give the quarrelers a chance to regret their impulse to separate and make up.

Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Moral Law Court of Chicago, who talked here with Max Eine, a prominent Socialist of this city, has returned from a prolonged stay in Bolshevik Russia told about marriage and divorce and other Soviet customs at the Hotel Claridge.

"What about the children, Judge?" we asked him.

CHILDREN STATE PROPERTY.

"The children are the property of the State," came the reply. "At all times, theoretically at least, the State owns the children and provides for their maintenance. In the rare cases where offenders against Soviet government are confined to concentration camps, the government takes over the care of the offspring.

"Does what it pleases with them? Do you mean to say that the government over there chooses the occupation of the young Russian and compels him to follow the calling selected?"

"That's what it amounts to," replied Judge Fisher. "The trade unions or soviets control all the occupations into one of which the member of the trades Russian youth is cast. The choice is actually made by the Ministry of Education."

Judge Fisher went to Russia on a commission sent out by the Joint Distribution Committee for Jewish Relief in this city. He found a great deal of suffering there, but regarding the condition of the country by and large, he thought that conditions in Russia were in pretty good shape, as he declares he will recommend an expenditure of $5,000,000 a month for relief in Russia alone.

PEASANTS GROWING RICH.

"The most prosperity a farmer can own nowadays in the land of Peter the Great is 20,000 roubles, which amounts to about $1,000 in American money," continued the judge.

Judge Fisher declared that notwithstanding this law the peasants were growing rapidly rich, for their labor is paid for in everything they produced was taken off their hands. Formerly they received bits of paper money and came to the city from time to time to buy articles of clothing and food delicacies.

"As 85 per cent. of the entire Russian people belong to this farmer class, the Bolshevik experiment may be considered a success," declared the judge. "The peasants are not Communists but they like the Bolshevik law that gives them their land and protecting them in their ownership of it."

Here are some of the prices stuff sells for in Russia today. Meat, 2,000 roubles a pound; black bread (no white bread), 800 roubles; salt, 1,200 roubles a pound; one herring, 900 roubles; a clothes line or pair of shoes 75,000 roubles, ordinary coat, 1,000 roubles a pound; a fifteen-minute cab ride 4,000 roubles.

RUM FOR RICH ONLY.

Bread is distributed by house committees from which the people buy every day. Other foods can be obtained by the rich only, as prices are no stores, and the prices are fixed arbitrarily by illicit peddlers.

Russia is dry, except that liquor may be obtained by the rich man, who can get it through the high lack of paper, and the only conveyors of information are placards posted on the walls of the city. These print only pro-Soviet stuff.

The cause of the victory is forbidden. Pine and Judge Fisher were both in Russia at the time Yudenich took Kiev, and they noted no commotion. The announcement of the victory was printed only a few lines, and gives a subordinate position in the news.

Zionists were kept down and all leaders of that party were in concentration camps at the time of the arrival of the commission. They were considered members of a disrupting faction. No less than 107 of them were released through the efforts of the commission.

In Moscow today there are twenty-five Americans who live and work under Soviet government just as the other Russians. They receive the same food as the others do, and like them, are forbidden to leave the country.

MERCHANT HELD IN TIRE THEFT

South End Man Accused of Receiving $3,000 Worth of Stolen Auto Tubes

MAX LONG, proprietor of a furniture store at No. 635 Tremont street, is under arrest charged with receiving $3,000 worth of tires alleged to have been stolen from St. Johnsbury, Vt. He was released in $5,000 bonds pending arraignment.

The recovery of the tires from Long's store and garage by the East Dedham street station was due to a mysterious telephone message to the police from a woman as yet unknown to them. Fourteen of the forty-six tires have been identified by a St. Johnsbury man as his property.

TIRES WORTH $60 EACH.

All the tires were new, only a few having been removed from their original wrappings. They were estimated to be worth $60 and upwards each.

Long protested his innocence of any knowledge that the tires had been stolen. He said a man had asked him to sell the tires on commission, giving a plausible reason for the request.

The police hope to capture the man who turned the tires over to Long. Captain Driscoll delayed his vacation a day in order to investigate. An inspector from police headquarters was detailed yesterday to assist Inspector Cronin.

LINK THEFT WITH HUB "RING."

The trail of the thieves led across Vermont, where several breaks were reported. The first noted by the officials was at Lydon. It was believed that the thieves then crossed the river and entered establishments in St. Johnsbury and nearby places. Other owners whose places were robbed have been notified to come to Boston to try to identify the remainder of the property.

The case is receiving the closest attention of the authorities, who see in it a possible connection with the Boston gang of automobile thieves. The police also believe that the gang may have been frightened away from this vicinity because of the official investigations into the activities of the ring, and may have transferred its operations to Vermont as a safer field.

52 MURDERS COMMITTED IN NEW YORK SINCE JAN. 1

New York, Aug. 4.—During the seven months since January 1, fifty-two murders have been committed in New York, according to the District Attorney's office. This is the largest number recorded in many years, it was stated. Indictments have been returned in twenty-two cases and six convictions recorded, none for murder in the first degree. No arrests were made in sixteen of the cases.

VANDALS FLATTEN DOCTOR'S TIRES

The Somerville police are conducting an investigation into a type of vandalism perpetrated on Dr. Eugene L. Maguire of No. 390 Medford street, Somerville. Dr. Maguire while making a professional call on Mystic avenue and when he returned to his automobile found that every one of the tires, including the spare one, had been flattened with old nails.

SOUTH BOSTON ENTERS PROTEST OVER TANKS

A petition was presented to Mayor Peters by Representative Robert S. Bigney and the Rev. Mortimer E. Twomey, pastor of St. Eulalia's Church, South Boston, in an endeavor to prevent the erection of tanks for the storage of inflammable fluids, which the people of South Boston maintain would be a menace to life and property of the district.

$100,000 WAR MEMORIAL PLANNED FOR FALL RIVER

Fall River, Aug. 4.—A World War memorial, costing in the vicinity of $100,000, is planned for Fall River. It will take the form of a public building, a site for which is soon to be purchased. Mayor Kay has appointed a commission to consider plans.

5,000 at 'Kiddo Day' of Cambridge Elks

Frances, Fonsecca and Dorothy Williams, happy children in a paradise of fun and goodies

Today brought joy to 5,000 Cambridge youngsters who were special guests at the picnic which the Cambridge Elks each year give to the children. They were taken in special cars to Fresh Pond Grove, where clowns, jugglers and Punch and Judy provided the fun. Lemonade and ice cream were had for the asking. There were two prizes, a bicycle for the fortunate boy and a gold ring for some girl. The Elks had $4,000 to make "Kiddo Day" a success. Mayor Edward W. Quinn was chairman of the outing committee and Arthur T. Browne was in charge of the sports.

1,000 HAVERHILL SHOE WORKERS WITHOUT JOBS

Haverhill, Aug. 4.—With over a thousand men and women forced out of employment from twenty counter, tip, and tap factories, the shoe-making industry in the city is in a serious way. Manufacturers, who have refused to sign the new lists, say they will keep their plants closed until next year when a general readjustment of the shoe industry is expected, unless the union modifies its demands.

Only a third of the shoe factories are being operated and the sole leather factories are shut down, with no men idle, because the firms refuse to sign the new price lists. Many shoemakers are applying for work at the Atlantic shipyards near Portsmouth, N. H.

MAINE MAN DROWNS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE LAKE

Portland, Me., Aug. 4.—Wesley A. Weir, superintendent of a Summer school for Sunday school workers, was drowned in Lake Winnipesaukee, N. H., according to word just reaching this city. Weir served overseas with the Y. M. C. A. as a secretary during the war and was general secretary of the Maine State Sunday School Teachers' Association.

8 SET SAIL FOR PIRATE'S GOLD

Take Spiritual Adviser With Them on Trip to Cocos Islands, Near Java

Montreal, Aug. 4.—Somewhere on the broad Atlantic, a 60-foot craft, bearing eight adventurers, a French priest and an instrument which it is claimed will locate any hidden precious metal, is making its way to Cocos Islands, near Java.

One of the party claims to have discovered maps and a book in the Hudson Bay district, which contain directions for the locating of a hidden cache of pirates gold and other treasure.

The central figure in the party, Andrew B. Cullen, of Haileybury, Ont., is the owner of the peculiar instrument which will act as the ferret in uncovering the gold.

Feeling that they would need a spiritual adviser they took the Rev. Fr. Terreault with them. The priest was given a leave of absence for four months.

In order to acquaint the public with the general telephone situation, and some of the reasons for delay in completing new installations—chief among which is the difficulty of getting the numerous kinds of necessary material—we have prepared a series of announcements of which this is the second.

Reserve Telephone Equipment Exhausted

We used to engineer our plant—switchboards, cables, circuits, and all necessary parts thereof—to anticipate by several years the growth of population or manufacturing in any particular place or region. Consequently, we were always able to meet promptly demands for service, no matter how large or unexpected.

Hence, during the war period we were able to give service to a rapidly increasing list of subscribers, although we had little priority consideration as a necessary industry and were compelled by government restriction to abandon our normal programme of advance construction.

When the war ended, however, these reserve facilities had been almost wholly pre-empted by the growing demand. Our usual reserve of central offices, switchboards, power plants, conduits, cables, manholes, pole lines no longer existed. We required rubber, paper, copper wire, lumber, silk, clay, glass, porcelain, paraffin, and many other things not ordinarily associated in the public mind with telephone service, in order to restore our reserves.

Every business man will realize the difficulty experienced in getting some, if not all, of these things. We had to get all, or devise some efficient substitute for those which could not be had.

We have installed more new telephones thus far this year than in any previous similar period of telephone history; and we could have done still more but for the exhaustion of our reserve equipment caused by general conditions of production and transportation. These are showing signs of improvement, however.

Our morale is good. Our people are earnestly desirous of giving good service and of extending it as fast as possible. Although there are many persons to whom we cannot at once give telephone service because of conditions wholly outside our organization, we are determined to meet their desires as soon as it is humanly possible to do so.

COX TO TALK AS WORKERS REST

To Arrange Speeches in Way That Won't Interfere With Busy Men

By International News Service.

Dayton, O., Aug. 4.—Governor Cox, Democratic presidential nominee, is planning his campaign with a nice regard for the convenience of potential audiences.

The Governor believes the most convenient time for the farmer to give attention to politics is during the interim between threshing and corn shucking and when the committee on speaking arrangements mesa here following a conference ex-pects, the governor will suggest that schedules be arranged to enable him to tour the farming sections of the Middle West and Northwest during that period.

The Governor holds that voters have the right to see as much as possible of the candidates in order that proper judgment may be formed as to what they stand for, and having been born on a farm, he believes no real "dirt" farmer is going to rush off to hear a political speech while ripe crops are in the field.

Similar considerations will apply to other constituencies. In industrial centres, speeches will be made during the noon hour, on Saturday half holidays and at night.

The feature of today's program for Governor Cox was a picnic of the Coin City Democratic Club this afternoon at Shiloh, near Dayton.

Late in the afternoon the Governor conferred with Mrs. Abbie Scott Baker, political chairman of the National Woman's Party, who told him prospects of ratification of the woman suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature were extremely gloomy unless some immediate action was taken.

Cruel and abusive treatment by Sweeten is also relied upon by his wife in her suit.

The Sweetens were married on June 1, 1915, at Boston. Mrs. Sweeten wants alimony and the custody of her daughter, Margaret Anna, aged five.

K. OF C. PLAN 500 NIGHT SCHOOLS

Will Pay Teachers 250 Per Cent. More Than Instructors in Other Schools

New York, Aug. 4—Future plans and past performances of the Knights of Columbus, reviewed by Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty, at the opening of the organization's twenty-eighth supreme convention, included:

A program under which 500 night schools, self-sustaining and open to the public at a nominal fee, shall be established.

Adoption of paying Knights of Columbus teachers in all their schools 250 per cent. more than teachers in other schools in the same locality.

Continuance of the campaign against Bolshevism and Radicalism, which has been conducted through the K. of C. lecture bureau.

Flaherty also reported that the order has placed more than 350,000 men in employment, without cost to them, since the end of the war.

At the afternoon session of the conference Miss Margaret Anglin, actress, spoke on "Better Audiences, Mean Better Plays."

A report showed the K. of C. had still unspent $2,191,000 of the money received as its share of the United War Work Fund, and more than $5,000,000 contributed directly all of which will be needed for proposed expansion.

GIRLS LURED TO LOFTIS' FLAT

Find Wealthy Jeweler Met Death by Fall; Miss Woods and Fiance Released

Chicago, Aug. 4—Samuel T. A. Loftis, of Loftis Bros. diamond merchants, met his death last Friday night through an accidental fall, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury here.

Miss Ruth Woods, pretty cashier at the fashionable Edgewater Beach Hotel, who was in his luxurious bachelor chambers at the time, was freed, as was Roy Shayne, who had been summoned by Miss Woods to release her from his flat.

LURED GIRLS TO FLAT.

Testimony at the inquest showed that Loftis had died in the perfumed but shadowy web he had spun to trap young girls. His apartment was repeatedly referred to as the "Fifty-Girl Flat" because Hulda Johnson, housekeeper for Loftis, testified that no less than that number of girls had been lured there by Loftis since last January.

The inquest brought out a great deal of dramatic testimony. Miss Woods collapsed three times during the gruelling she received at the hands of attorneys who sought to determine whether Loftis fell or was pushed in the "friendly scuffle" she had with him.

LED AWAY WEEPING.

As the verdict was read Shayne and Miss Woods were standing together. She turned to him and smiled. Then she leaned toward him. His arms went out and around her. And they were locked in an embrace.

"Take me away, Roy," she wept, "take me away."

THREE HURT IN UPSET OF WOMAN'S AUTO

Leominster, August 4. — Mrs. Edward Dahill, Marjorie Dahill and Pauline Carter received minor injuries in an automobile accident on Walnut street hill when a car driven by Mrs. Mary Reed overturned while the latter was attempting to turn around. The injured were treated at the Leominster Hospital and later taken to their homes.

HARDING DEALS WITH ARTICLE X.

Another Delegation at Marion Hears Address From the Front Porch

By International News Service.

Marion, O., Aug. 4—Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee for President, at another outpouring of citizens assembled about the front porch today defined the issues of "Americanism" and "internationalism." His address explained his attitude toward Article X., the "heart" of the League of Nations covenant.

Today's gathering was of about 600 men and women from Wayne County. They were met by a delegation of Marion citizens and escorted to the music of brass bands, to the Harding home.

A revival of suggestions that Senator Harding abandon his front porch campaign in September and stump the country has thus far met with no open statement by him. In any event, it was stated, he plans to deliver a series of addresses here at frequent intervals.

The Harding campaign is still in the making, it was added. His chief lieutenant, Harry M. Daugherty, is to confer on speaking plans with Republican leaders at New York city.

It is known that four tentative speaking tours have been submitted to Senator Harding, the first proposing a visit to the principal cities of the Pacific Coast, the second the stumping of the Middle West, the third a swing through States usually Democratic, like Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina, which the Republicans aim to carry in November, and the fourth including New England and the East.

None of the tours have been agreed upon, however, and it was stated authoritatively the Senator is waited for the present, at least, to continue his front porch campaign.

EXPECT ARREST OF REAL COUGHLIN KIDNAPER

Philadelphia, Aug. 4—With one man held by the Federal authorities in connection with the kidnaping of Blakely Coughlin, baby son of George H. Coughlin of Norristown, Pa., the arrest of a second suspect, who may prove the real kidnaper, is expected within forty-eight hours. If the Federal officials who arrested the supposed Italian at Egg Harbor, N. J., on Monday, learned the fate of baby Coughlin, they have not yet revealed it.

VETERAN CALLS WAR RISK PAY TOO SMALL

Charles R. Robinson, a former service man, of No. 35 East Newton road, Brookline, complained at the State headquarters of the American Legion of treatment he claimed to have received at the hands of government authorities at Boston in regard to compensation for disability received in the service.

Robinson said that when he got out of the service in April, 1919, he received $40 a month compensation for trench feet, that he was unable to go back to his former occupation, that when he got light work his compensation was reduced and on leaving a government hospital after an operation for appendicitis it was cut to $9 a month.

10,000 BATHING SUIT WORKERS MAY STRIKE

New York, Aug. 4—Leaders in charge of the bathing suit workers' strike now in progress here declared today that 6,000 more workers would leave their jobs unless the owners agreed to the demands presented by the strikers. More than 4,000 are now out on strike.

54,000,000 GALLONS OF LIQUOR STILL IN U. S.

New York, Aug. 4—There is still plenty of liquor left in the country, according to an announcement today by Prohibition Commissioner John F. Kramer. He claims that bonded warehouses hold at least 54,000,000 gallons.

FOUR SHAKEN UP AS TRUCK SHOULDERS AUTO

Four persons had a miraculous escape from serious injury, when the automobiles in which they were riding came into collision on Vine street near the junction of Adams avenue, Saugus. An auto truck driven by Charles W. Riverson of No. 166 Green street, Melrose, is said to have tried to pass a roadster, and in the attempt pushed the smaller car completely to one side of the road and nearly over an embankment into a brook.

Riverson and Harold Teadon of No. 2 Orris place, Melrose, were thrown from the truck and the occupants of the roadster, Theodore C. Lundergaard of No. 3 Taylor street, and Miss Pauline Bachelder of Fair View avenue, both of Saugus, were shaken up.

AQUITANIA SPEEDING FOR NEW SEA RECORD

New York, Aug. 4—Wireless reports from the Aquitania today announced that the big liner, bound for Southampton, is making an average of 23.28 knots an hour in an effort to make a new speed record across the seas. The ship was recently overhauled and converted into an oil burner.

BLAZING OF THE WAYS

HISTORY of the House of Hovey is the title of an interesting booklet just issued by us and which our friends may have upon request. It abounds in evidence that Mr. Charles Fox Hovey was a commercial pioneer. We quote:

"The founder of the C. F. Hovey Company did not wait for paths to be blazed; he struck out into virgin fields, entirely unafraid,—with the courage born of strict integrity.

"To Mr. Hovey is given the honor of being the first to introduce the one-price system in retailing. At about the same time A. T. Stewart in New York tried out the method successfully. Previously clerks had obtained what prices they could by 'talking up' goods. Often at the same counter, one clerk would rival another in selling the same kind of merchandise. This plan was distinctly offensive to Mr. Hovey, who always had the good of the public at heart, and so in his store all goods were plainly marked and he took for his slogan, standard goods at a standard price.

"Being just and for the good of all, this procedure attracted attention and was adopted all over the country.

"Another welcome innovation was that of early closing. In this Mr. Hovey's advanced ideas worked for the good of all.

"As early as 1854 Mr. Hovey beheld the vision of profit sharing, and again as pioneer he proceeded to follow where his vision led."

Today the men who are conducting the House of Hovey are blazing the ways to better and broader attainments. We shall speak of that in a subsequent article.

BUILT ON VALUE—GROWING ON VALUE

REFUSES TO LIFT BAN ON MANNIX

Lloyd George Declines to Change Decision Despite Pressure from Many Quarters

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 4.—"Archbishop Mannix does not represent Australian opinion," declared Premier Hughes in a speech commenting upon the anti-English utterances of the prelate in America. "The Archbishop says he will reply to me when he returns to Australia. But he has to return first."

London, Aug. 4.—Resisting heavy pressure from many quarters, Premier David George was declined to reverse his decision which forbids Archbishop Mannix to land in Ireland.

The government has been hostile to the Australian prelate ever since he took a stand in opposition to conscription in Australia during the war. The conscription measure was defeated. He is regarded by the government as one of the least desirable citizens of the empire.

BAN LAND IN ENGLAND.

Nevertheless the Premier is now prepared to allow Archbishop Mannix to land on English soil, although it is clear from the statement which Sir Hamar Greenwood made to Universal Service last night that this was not the original intention. The intention was to prevent him from landing in the United Kingdom.

The government was then known to have contemplated diverting his journeyings to the continent, but inspired statements point out that the original statement of Lloyd George on the subject referred only to Ireland.

It is taken for granted that the Baltic, the liner on which Archbishop Mannix is sailing to his intended destination, will not stop at Queenstown. The reason given is that the company is no longer using this port on account of danger to navigation since the Sinn Feiners raids on the lighthouses and the signaling stations on the south coast.

PREMIER URGED TO RECANT.

There is a sharp division of the press on the wisdom of the ban. The Times urges the Premier to recant. It says:

"The Sinn Fein needs no encouragement from anybody. Archbishop Mannix could probably do more harm in the United States, where he is free hand to preach an anti-British crusade in Ireland. His present virulence of speech may be due to ignorance of the real state of affairs in Ireland. It is thought that a close contact with the realities would have a sobering effect on him."

The paper then points out that the Catholic church would support a generous settlement of the matter which would leave Ireland within the empire and suggests that Cardinal Logue show his fellow prelate that independence is impracticable. If, however, Lloyd George insists on making a martyr of Archbishop Mannix, Cardinal Logue will be virtually compelled to champion his cause.

The Telegraph and other papers urge Lloyd George not to revoke the ban. My own information from Ireland is that Sinn Fein leaders regard the ban as stupid, inasmuch as the movement for independence does not rely on the support of the church. There is nothing Archbishop Mannix might be able to do or say that would affect the position of the Republicans one way or the other. The Sinn Fein is much more anxious to work hand in hand with labor than to admit church dignitaries of government circles to the movement.

Every Irish Hilltop to Blaze Welcome to Mannix

Dublin, Aug. 4.—Excitement over Archbishop Mannix continues to grow. It is definitely believed that the Cabinet will allow him to land in Liverpool without interference, but will then try to check his coming to Ireland. One thing, however, is definite. If Archbishop Mannix lands in England he will come to Ireland. Sinn Fein will see to that.

Saturday night every hilltop in the whole of Ireland will blaze out with bonfires signalling a "welcome home" to Archbishop Mannix.

Their Medicine Chest For 20 Years

IT is characteristic of folks after they pass the allotted "three score years and ten," to look back over the days that are gone and thoughtfully live them over.

I find myself, at seventy-one, frequently finding back a quarter of a century, when I see myself in the little drug store I owned at Bolivar, Mo., preaching and selling a vegetable compound to my people as a "customers-would" was then known only as Dr. Lewis' Medicine for Stomach, Liver and Bowel Complaints.

For many years while I was perfecting my formula I studied and investigated the laxative and cathartics on the market and became convinced that their main fault was not that they did not act on the bowels, but that their action was too violent and drastic, and upset the system of the user; which was due to the fact that they were not thorough enough in their action, some simply acting on the upper or small intestines, while others would act only on the lower or large intestines, and that they almost invariably produced a habit requiring augmented doses.

I believed that a preparation to produce the best effect must first tone the liver, then act on the stomach and entire alimentary system, if this was accomplished the medicine would produce a mild, but thorough elimination of the waste without the usual sickening sensations, and make the liver feel better at once.

After experimenting with hundreds of different compounds, I at last perfected the formula that is now known as Nature's Remedy, which I truly believe goes further and does more than any laxative on the market today. Ten thousands of letters from users have continued me I was right, and that the user of Nature's Remedy as a family medicine, even though he may have used it for twenty-five years, never has to increase his dose.

My knowledge of medicine and the results of its use in my own family and among my friends, before I ever offered it for sale, caused me to have great faith in Nature's Remedy from the very first.

And now as I find myself nearing the age when I begin to be inevitable and go to another life, my greatest pleasure is to sit each day and read the letters that each mail brings from people as old or older than I, who tell of having used Nature's Remedy for ten, fifteen and twenty years, and how they and their children and grandchildren have been benefited by it.

It is a sobering thought, my friends, for a man at my age to feel that aside from his own success, he has done something for his fellow man. My greatest satisfaction, my greatest happiness today, is the knowledge that tonight more than 5,000 people will take a Nature's Remedy (NR Tablet) and will be better, healthier, happier tomorrow for it. I hope you will be one of them.

Song Writer Appears as Comedy Star

JACK NORWORTH

Playing leading role in "My Lady Friends" at Park Square Theatre.

Jack Norworth, entertainer of the vaudeville and musical comedy stage, writer and singer of scores of popular song successes and producer of a number of musical shows, will be seen as the leading feature of H. H. Frazee's newest of comedies, "My Lady Friends" at the Selwyns' Park Square Theatre Monday evening.

Although he has gained international fame in the acting line, this will be Mr. Norworth's first appearance in a straight comedy.

Norworth's stage career covers more than twenty years in time and considerably more than half the world territorially. He started work as a black face comedian, in the days when vaudeville was known as "varieties" and for nine years toured the country in various acts.

He has written some of the most popular hits of all the song writers, such as "Sister Susie's Sewing Shirts for Sailors," "Harvest Moon," "Honey Boy," "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," "Come Along Miss Mandy," and many others.

BOSTON-REVERE 'L' LINE ASKED

Dana Favors Substituting Trains for Trolleys in East Boston Tunnel

General Manager Dana of the Boston Elevated, a witness before the State Department of Public Utilities, conducting a hearing on the feasibility of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway taking over he East Boston tunnel and the Elevated's rights in East Boston, advocated the elimination of surface cars and the substitution of trains in the tunnel.

Dana said the plan would increase the rush hour capacity of the tunnel from 6,000 to 20,000 persons.

At the hearing, held as a result of a legislative resolve, Chelsea and Revere officials and representatives urged that the Elevated extend its service to those two cities. Revere having abandoned its plan to have the Eastern use the tunnel.

Chairman Homer S. Loring of the Eastern trustees declared that the logical solution of the transit problem in this section was by having the Eastern use the tunnel.

The legality of having the Eastern use the tunnel came up when Attorney Charles W. Mulcahy, for the Elevated, declared that it would be unconstitutional for the State to transfer the tunnel to the Eastern Massachusetts.

Chairman Atwill of the Utilities Commission admitted that whatever action was taken along these lines would have to be taken with the consent of both roads, "unless the State should take the tunnel by right of eminent domain."

Chairman Loring agreed to enter into any arrangements with the Elevated to give better service in Chelsea and Revere, but declared that the road would oppose giving up its rights in these cities to the Elevated.

FITZGERALD OUT OF DEMOCRATIC RUNNING

William F. Fitzgerald, the Boston banker, will not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor at the Massachusetts primary on September 7. When the time for filing nomination papers with the Secretary of State expired, it transpired that Mr. Fitzgerald's papers did not contain 250 signatures from each of four counties in the State, as the law requires. He had 228 signatures in Suffolk, in Middlesex and in Essex counties, but only 184 in Norfolk and 82 in Worcester. Consequently his name will not appear on the primary ballot.

Short Skirts Scare American Buyers

By International News Service.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The first showing of Autumn fashions has scared off American buyers on account of the shortness of women's skirts. The new style skirts put out by Parisian designers are the shortest since the fig leaf days.

One model, which French dressmakers admit is "fairly daring," has a skirt composed of front and rear panels reaching to the knees.

The panels are sewed together only part of the way so that the slightest puff of wind blows them apart.

Fashionable designers suggest that women who wear the new backless evening gowns decorate their bare shoulders with "beauty spots."

FAVOR DOMINION BILL FOR ERIN

Majority of British Cabinet Would Substitute It for Partition Measure

Dublin, Aug. 4—One of the best informed political agents told Universal Service today that the British Cabinet is split over the question of giving Dominion Home Rule to Ireland.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, he said, since his appointment as Chief Secretary for Ireland, has seen the futility of forcing the present Partition Bill on the country and has urged the necessity of its withdrawal forcibly by the Cabinet.

He stated that the majority in Whitehall wants dominion home rule substituted for it but that Walter Long, head of the Admiralty and former leader of the Ulster Unionists, is leading the revolt against this.

Premier David George, though he has not yet declared himself, leans toward the position taken by Long. Universal's informant believes that the present indecision of the Cabinet will seriously aggravate trouble throughout Ireland.

CALLS DIVORCEE UNFIT MOTHER

Former Boston Officer Fights Former Wife's Petition for Custody of Children

The custody of three girls, the oldest nine years, and a young boy, the children of Augustine J. Miner and Mary Miner, of Roxbury, was the subject of a lively hearing before Judge Sisk on Mrs. Miner's petition that the children be given to her. Three of them are now living with a Mrs. Bates at Cohasset, and the other child with a Mrs. Damon in the same town.

A year ago Judge Morton granted Mrs. Miner a divorce from her husband, a former Boston police officer, who quit the force at the time of the strike, but made no order as to who should have the care of the children. The ground for granting the divorce was cruel and abusive treatment of his wife by Miner.

As Mrs. Miner, since the divorce decree, has been obliged to earn her own living the children have been provided for elsewhere until such time as she is able to make a home for them.

Mrs. Miner told Judge Sisk she was not satisfied with Mrs. Bates' care of Mary, the eldest child, and desired to have the sole custody of her and the younger children.

Miner declared that his wife was an unfit person to have the children, and said that the origin of the trouble between his wife and himself was caused by the attention she gave to Joseph Gilbert who was a frequent visitor at the house when Miner was on night police duty.

Judge Sisk expressed a desire to hear the stories of Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Damon before deciding the case, and they have been summoned to appear in court.

The suit is said to be directed against the members of the Board of Governors jointly.

ASK MR. FIXIT

Dear Mr. Fixit: I have a 2-cyl. 10 h. p. Stanley marine engine which I have been using on batteries, but would like to wire my magneto to the proper firing order. How can I do it? Also, how many spark plugs should I get and how many wires required and how many should be ground? Please explain this for me in Wednesday's American if possible as I intend to try it Saturday.

FRED A. C.

Your inquiry received too late for last week. What style of magneto do you want to use? The following is the engine firing order: Connect the breaker arm of friction geared magneto to the battery. If gears 3 to 1 low tension and simply furnishes "juice" which is stepped up through your coil. In this case you need a two-way switch. One wire leads from magneto to the switch. One from the batteries to the switch. From switch to the coil. Connect the wire from the coil to the base or exhaust pipe. Start on your batteries and switch over to the mag. If you have a high tension magneto, it must be geared to the 2-to-wheel and time to the motor. Let me hear further from you if this does not help you.

Dear Mr. Fixit: What can be done to remedy a 1917 Ford that "bucks" when it goes into high? How often should a Ford tuner be oiled? What causes a squeak when turning corners? Does the Standard Oil Co. issue maps of all parts of the U. S.? I have one of their maps showing the auto trails and principal roads in New England and would like to get one of New York State. Where can I get one like this?

New Bedford.

This "chatter" is due to play and wear on any one of four rear end bearings. Should take down the rear end and tighten bearings or put in new. Timer should be oiled about every two hundred miles. The squeak when turning corners is probably due to lack of oil on the bottom of the steering post. For the Standard Oil maps, we suggest applying to the respective sales offices of the Standard Oil Co., No. 26 Broadway, New York City. Touring Information Department.

JUMPS IN RIVER WHEN SCOLDED BY MOTHER

Harold Jardine, aged 23, of No. 48 Watertown street, Watertown, might have committed suicide in the Charles river if he had not exercised his knowledge of swimming and started for shore when James Walsh, who had jumped in to save him, reached his side.

According to the police, the young man jumped into the river because he was reprimanded by his mother, for his failure to go to work.

Famous Actor Says Vienna's Gayety Is Merely Cloak for Widespread Misery

New York, Aug. 4.—The food shortage in Austria is still acute. The death rate is rising alarmingly and there is a general migration of Austrians able to pay their way out.

Rudolph Schildkraut, famous Austrian and German actor, gave many details of the sad condition of Germany's ally. Mr. Schildkraut will appear at the Jewish Art Theatre throughout the coming season.

"To the casual observer Vienna wears an air of gaiety," said Schildkraut. "The women dress loudly, wear extravagant styles, and the sidewalk cafes ring with merriment. There are balls and festivities of all kinds.

"But those who know the city detect the strain and know that the city is running on its nervous energy. The gaiety is a mask behind which lurks the misery accumulated by war, revolution and a drastic peace.

"There are suicides aplenty, and a crime wave of considerable dimension. The children in particular suffer greatly, and although America is helping, the death rate among them continues to climb.

"Everybody is going away. It is like a panic. Death is around the corner and is always laying his hand on your friend, your relative or someone nearer."

"All right, Bill—You can stop reading 'em"

BILL TOLD me.
HE HAD a good joke.
ON THE maker,
OF A well-known brand,
OF CIGARETTES.
LAST NIGHT, Bill said,
HE READ an ad.
OF THIS cigarette,
IN A magazine.
IT SAID "They Satisfy."
AND THIS morning,
IN HIS newspaper,
HE READ "They Satisfy,"
AND ON a billboard,
AND ON a card,
IN THE street-car,
AND IN the dealer's window,
AND ON the counter.
HE READ "They Satisfy."
AND HE bought a pack.
OF THESE cigarettes.
AND I asked him,
"WHERE'S THE joke, Bill?"
AND BILL said,
"WHY THE darn fools.
SPENDING THEIR money.
PICKING ON me."
SO I said, "You bought 'em.
DIDN'T THEY satisfy?"
AND BILL said "Sure.
BUT HERE'S the joke,
FOR OVER a year,
I'D ALREADY been smoking.
THAT BRAND."

SOLDIER SHOT IN STREET FIGHT

Policeman Beaten, During Crowd's Vain Attempt to Rescue Roxbury Prisoner

Private Thomas F. Lynch, 16th Supply Co., U. S. Infantry, was shot, Patrolman Joseph P. Fatenaude was severely manhandled and had his clothing torn, and Michael Glennon, aged twenty-three, was arrested during a fight on George street, near Gerard, in Roxbury, when a crowd of hoodlums attempted to take the officer's prisoner away from him.

Lynch, who was painfully wounded in the shoulder, was passing the scene at the time and took no part in the disturbance. One of the two shots fired by the policeman to frighten the crowd hit the soldier. He was removed to the City Hospital.

Although set upon by at least twenty men and youths, Patrolman Patenaude refused to release his hold on Glennon. The crowd threw the officer to the ground and many kicked him, but he managed to fight them back sufficiently to regain his feet, whereupon he drew his revolver and fired twice. One of the bullets lodged in Lynch's shoulder.

With revolver drawn and pursued by the howling crowd, Patenaude took Glennon to the Dudley Street Station, where he was locked pending his arraignment. The officer lost his cap and his clothing was badly torn in the fight.

According to Patenaude he saw several youths drinking "pikep" in a George street doorway. He ordered them to move along. Glennon, he said, refused and when he tried to persuade him to move Glennon struck him twice.

He then placed him under arrest, but this angered Glennon's friends, who drew near, ready to give fight. A crowd of hoodlums quickly gathered and when Patenaude sought to lead his prisoner away the crowd is alleged to have attacked him.

The officer managed to call his station and a riot squad was dispatched to the scene, but Patenaude was marching his prisoner away when they arrived.

Glennon, after he was booked at the station, was released in $500 bonds for appearance in court.

Patenaude is a veteran of the war and saw service in France, where he won the French War Cross for heroism.

Get 'In the Swim,' Girls, for American's Race

High diving by pretty girls will be a feature of the annual championship swim of the Boston American to be held in the Charles River Basin, Saturday afternoon, August 28.

They will perform stunts on the spring board of the Metropolitan Park Commission in the water opposite the Union Boat Clubhouse at the foot of Revere street, West End.

Lieutenant Chapman of the basin police expects a record-breaking crowd at the race and has arranged for a big detail of gay uniformed officers to preserve order and give every spectator a chance to enjoy the water sports without crowding.

KEEN RIVALRY AMONG GIRLS.

There will be plenty of space for people to witness the race. The course is one and one-half miles and 200 feet. The route is along the beautiful esplanads from the Union Boat Clubhouse to the Harvard Bridge.

Keen Rivalry exists among the swimming girls over the coming race. The Tennean Beach girls out in Dorchester feel certain one of their number will carry off the honors this year. Cambridge girls point with pride to the fact that there is championship material among them and that the young women in the Neponset section will have to go some to compete with them. Revere Beach water nymphs are taking long practice swims for the event.

Contestants who are practicing at the various beaches are requested to let the Swimming Editor know the day and time the American photographer can take their pictures in bathing costume. Some photographs received are not up to the standard and cannot be published. Snapshots are no good unless they show up clear. Please do not waste stamps sending in such photographs as it is impossible to publish them.

ENTRIES COMING IN.

Members of the girls' swimming clubs in New England are invited to take part. All they have to do is write out their name, age and address, and forward same to the Swimming Editor, Boston American, No. 89 Summer street, Boston. The race is absolutely free.

Entries to date are:

Katie Cohen, fifteen, No. 18 Gaston street, Roxbury.

Kittie Lynch, twenty-two, No. 23 Elston street, West Somerville.

Julia Cooper, No. 1130 Cambridge street, Cambridge.

Bernice M. Hennessey, seventeen, No. 80 Hampton Circle, Nantasket Beach.

Eva Feingold, eighteen, Beachmont.

Edna Anti, sixteen, No. 35 Willard street, Cambridge.

Isabelle Anti, fourteen, No. 35 Willard street Cambridge.

Miss Theresa Giordino of South Boston, one of the many swimmers entered.

Clogged-Up Liver Causes Headache

The liver is one of the regulators of health. If the liver is active and well, good health and happiness are encouraged, but once you allow your liver to get torpid and sluggish, life becomes a misery. Indigestion, Biliousness, Constipation, Headaches and Melancholy may appear, resulting in lack of energy, loss of memory and ill health; but remember Carter's Little Liver Pills touch the liver and correct all liver ills.

DECLARE LEPERS ARE NOT CURED

Commission Reports Great Progress, But Men Are Not Free from Bacilli

The supposed cure of two male lepers at Penikese Island has not been wholly effected, according to the special commission appointed by the State department of health to investigate.

They report that while remarkable progress has been made the two men are not entirely cured and recommend that the patients be kept at the island.

This report materially retards the belief that chaulmugra oil, a product of an East Indian fig tree, with which the patients have been treated, is a sure cure for the dread disease.

Dr. M. Victor Safford, chairman of the special commission, stated that both patients had shown unusual progress but that bacteriological tests had proved the bacilli was still lodged in their blood and that release would be unadvisable at this time.

TRUCK DRIVER HELD AFTER CHILD'S DEATH

Lawrence, Aug. 4—Leo Roy of Valley street was arraigned in district court here on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Edith Pickels of No. 6 Phillips street, a six-year-old girl, who was struck by a truck driven by the defendant earlier in the week. He entered a plea of not guilty. The case was continued until Saturday.

WALSH SAYS VALERA IS IN WASHINGTON

New York, Aug. 4—Frank P. Walsh, leader in the Irish Republican movement, denied reports that Eamonn de Valera, president of the Irish Republic, had sailed for Europe. "President de Valera is in Washington," said Walsh. "There is no mystery in that."

DUNNINGER

Appearing in Demonstrations at Steinert Hall.

Distinctly out of the ordinary will be the entertainment offered at Steinert Hall, beginning Thursday night, when Dunninger, master of the human mind, whose private demonstrations in this city have aroused widespread interest, begins a series of public demonstrations of mind reading.

Although Dunninger presents the phenomena as a scientific fact, and intends in the demonstration to outline briefly the basis of his theory, the demonstration will be far indeed from a dry-as-rust lecture or the usual "high brow" scientific demonstration.

The series of demonstrations at Steinert Hall will continue every evening, with matinees Saturdays and Thursdays.

ENGINE CRASHES THROUGH WALL

Clings to Embankment in Worcester Just Over Passing Crowds and Electric Car

Worcester, Aug. 4—Pedestrians on Southbridge street and passengers in an electric car that was passing by the round-house of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. late yesterday afternoon narrowly escaped death and serious injury when a big New Haven engine crashed through the one-foot brick wall and radiator piping of the engine-house down the fifty-foot embankment and to the sidewalk and was miraculously held there while the terror-stricken people gazed for breath.

The engine would have crashed into the street, crushed the electric car and injured scores of people who were walking home from the factories nearby had it not been that its head nosed into the earth and the tender or coal-bin held fast on the edge of the ruins of the engine-house by two chains after the coupler had come apart.

General Foreman H. E. White, in charge of the engine-house, said the cause of the accident could only be determined after a thorough investigation.

"SEVEN YEARS OF PLENTY"

The ancient parable illustrates one of the great principles of life. According to the measure that you heed it so will your future be secure. Whether it is the worker who is fortunate enough to be blessed with a fattened pay envelope or the merchant who has uncommonly large receipts, wise is the man that puts his surplus into good paying industrial investments. If, like the farmer that hoards his grain, you place one-third of all you earn in good, safe investments, old age or lean years will hold no terrors for you.

Tires and Rubber Are the Money Makers of the Age

The wonders of the tire industry are so well known that almost every man, woman and child can call the great tire companies by name, United States, Goodyear, Goodrich, Fisk, Firestone, Kelly-Springfield and even the smaller companies like the Mohawk or Norwalk have reputations for making high grade products and producing immense profits for their stockholders. There is every reason to believe that the Kelley Tire and Rubber Company will be another star in the Rubber Tire Firmament and produce immense dividends for its share owners.

The right hand cut shows our new tire and tube plant. The foundation and the first floor have been completed and work is being rushed on the remaining three stories so as to enable us to take possession in the late summer of this year.

It would be worth the effort for any person contemplating purchasing our stock to visit our plant at West Haven, seeing for themselves the progress which is being made.

This Opportunity is Fast Passing You By

Even while you read these lines our great factory in West Haven is being rushed to completion. The great concrete structure overlooking the main line of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad will soon be roofed over. The most modern machinery and equipment is all ready to be installed—and then the busy wheels of this model factory will hum to fill the orders from our own busy sales branches.

If You Plan to Wait You'll Be Too Late

In any industry the time to invest is at the very beginning, before production is in volume. Then you can buy the scurities at the very bottom price and reap the rich return of greatly increased value as well as the large and the regular annual dividends. The bankers, the financiers and large investors all know this and seek every opportunity to "come in on the ground floor."

There are only a limited few that can take advantage of any good investment opportunity. You have several choices to dispose of your money, you can spend it, you can put in the bank or you can invest it. Most of the great fortunes as well as the more modest ones have been made by the latter method. If you are thinking of investing in this company, you must act now or you may never have a like opportunity again.

REFEREE SAVES DAY FOR SHARKEY IN BATTLE WITH MARTIN

ALL EVEN VERDICT UNFAIR

Providence Bantamweight Puts Up Consistent Battle All the Way and Deserved Verdict.

By JACK CONWAY.

Terry Martin gave Jack Sharkey a sound thumping in their twelve-round bout at the Armory A. A. show at Mechanics Building. The New England bantamweight champion had the better of the going in six rounds, two ended in favor of Sharkey, while the other four sessions were even.

Martin was entitled to the decision. Referee Al Delmont, however, saved the day for Sharkey when he declared honors fifty-fifty.

Nor the greater part of the bout Martin outfought his celebrated opponent. Sharkey showed well in spots as was the case when he opposed Joe Friedman in this city several months ago. While the New Yorker was displaying a flash of real fighting now and then, Martin was in there giving everything he had at all times.

Almost every time that Sharkey started an exchange of blows Martin made him out. The Providence bantam is one of those tireless workers who can keep going at full speed for the entire three minutes of each round if the emergency calls for such an effort.

Martin Staggered Rival in Eleventh Round

Martin gave his best exhibition of fighting in the eleventh round. Sharkey was guilty of some unnecessary roughness in the close quarters, according to Martin's ring ethics. This angered Terry and he opened up with left and right-hand blows. The result was that Sharkey was hanging on when the bell sounded at the end of the session. True, he flashed a few seconds before the stanza ended, but his sport was more of a bluff than a real effort.

Throughout the mill Martin scored with some heavy body blows. He also landed his left to his opponent's head with good effect. Sharkey's best punch was a left hook to the jaw.

Harry Martin received a draw in his eight-round bout with Johnny Ertle of New York. Jim Cleary of Roxbury stopped Young Harrington of South Boston in a round, while Willie Cowan of South Boston and Young Brown of Dorchester battled six sessions to a draw.

Hayes Battles Sullivan at Webster Tonight

Chick Hayes, Cambridge bantamweight, will get into action at Webster tonight, when he battles with Jimmy Sullivan of New York in a twelve-round number. This mill should furnish the fans with plenty of thrills as both boys are fast, clever boxers and stiff punchers.

Vincent Martin Meets Jawson at Quincy

The Coliseum A. C. of Quincy has a fine card booked for tomorrow night. Vincent Martin of Cambridge, who has been defeating all comers, will clash with Joe Jawson of Milwaukee in a twelve-round whirl. Jawson is one of the few boxers who has been able to make things interesting for Martin. When the pair clashed at the Commercial club honors were even after a torrid engagement. Both youths declare they will score a knockout tomorrow night, which assures the fans of plenty of action.

Paul De Salvo of Quincy will clash with Johnny Gibbin of Roxbury in the semi-final of eight rounds.

OVER 200 SEEK OPEN TITLE

Best of American Golf Pros in Big Toledo Tournament Next Week

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

Entries for the national open golf championship at the Inverness club in Toledo, starting next week, show that the largest field ever will play in the qualifying rounds on Tuesday and Wednesday. The names of more than 200 players appear on the list.

The tournament should be the most interesting yet played. Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, the British experts, are entered and will give the event the best international flavor since 1913, when these same veterans played in the open championship at Brookline.

America's Best to Play in Tournament

All of America's best professionals are entered as well as a number of the better amateur players. Bobby Jones of Atlanta appears to be the youngest of the amateurs entered. He is to play in the qualifying round with none other than Harry Vardon. This is interesting as Vardon has expressed a keen desire to see Jones play.

The Massachusetts professionals who are entered are George Bowden, the State open champion; John Clowan of Oakley, who finished in the money last year at Brae Burn; Louis Tellier of Brae Burn; C. J. McGrath of the Worcester Country Club, Walter Howe of Tainuck and Jack Shea of Kernwood.

Chick Evans Announced Intention to Compete

The name of Chick Evans does not appear on the list, but this must be a mistake, as the Chicago amateur has said all along that he would play at Toledo. Davidson Herron, the amateur champion, is not down to play.

The entire field will play 18 holes Tuesday and 18 Wednesday and those returning the best 64 cards and tied for 64th place will continue in the championship proper on Thursday and Friday, when two 18-hole rounds will be contested each day. The player with the lowest card for the regular 72 holes will be the winner. In the event of a tie there will be a play-off at 18 holes on Saturday.

How Golfers Will Pair Off in the National Open

The following are the pairings for the national open golf championship at Toledo, which opens next week:

Harry J. Hayes, Fairmont Heights, and Dennis H. Lewis, Detroit, Mass.

Norman Maxwell, Ashland Hills, and George Argo, Inverness.

Edgar Allen, Oakland Hills, and Isaac Baker, Culver Brook.

Harry Bassler, Oakland Hills, and Louis Bell, Inverness.

Joe Benson, Beloit, and Charles H. Lorms, Inverness.

R. A. White, Sylvania, and Edward Town, Inverness.

Harry Bentley, Wyoming, N. Y., and J. W. Binny, Bloomfield Hills.

Herbert Bissett, Evreleon, and John H. Lot, Glens Falls.

Frank Kemp, Gorge, N. Y., and James J. Se-, Toledo.

Frank Navarro, Tedesco, and George McLean, Inverness.

Eddie Loos, Ravisloe, and Gilbert Nichols, Inverness.

Willie Walker, Englewood, and Charles Thom, Inverness.

Walter Youngwood, Newark, O., and Charles Egendorf, Detroit.

Frank Coleman, San Antonio, Tex., and John J. Farrell, Quaker Ridge.

Jack Forrester, Detroit, and George Sayers, Beverly.

Horace Brand, Highland, and George Secor, Toledo.

Harry Gleason, Chillicothe, O., and George Shaw, Toledo.

Harry C. Lawson, Thorndore, and Emil Loeffler, Oakland.

Jack Burns, jr., Atlanta, and Harry Vardon, England.

Jack Carthy, Florida, and Charles B. Bowman.

Walter Hagen, Detroit, and Thomas Armour, Scioto.

Jones of Atlanta appears to be the youngest of the amateurs entered. He is to play to the qualifying round with none other than Harry Vardon. This is interesting as Vardon has expressed a keen desire to see Jones play.

Charles Jones, Edgewater, and Bonnie Wade, Inverness.

Jack Dowell, Stanton Heights, and Grange Hunter, Pittsburgh.

Jack Hobbs, Shawnick, and Sherrill Sherman, Utica, N. Y.

Willie Hunter, Colonia, and M. Case Dixon, Jacksonville.

Hovey-Shepard Game Is Put Over

The game scheduled for tonight between Hovey and Shepard has been postponed. Several of the regular players on the Shepard nine have been lost and their places have not been filled as yet. The date for the game has not been set.

Ramistere and Lawrence are the two players lost to the Shepard nine. Two pitcher aspirants are to be played by the Shepard team this week and new places selected for the vacancies.

The Blue and White should furnish the fireworks of the week when they come together tomorrow night. This is the second meeting of the teams and Talbot will be out to even the defeat handed out in their first meeting. Both teams have lost but one game this season.

The cup given by Wright & Pitson for the winner of the league is on exhibition in Hovey's this week. While last it last week, Shepard had possession of the cup, but it gave a chance to it later in the season, all it has to have the cup on exhibition for a week at a time and the winner of the league will hold it till the next season.

Filene Team Beaten

The Concord Junction baseball club defeated the Filene nine, 12 to 6, in a twilight game.

BENNET NINE REORGANIZED

Somerville Semi-Pro. Champions Back on Field Looking for New Honors

After an absence of several years from the diamond, the Bennet A. A. of Somerville has reorganized and is open for engagements with strong semi-professional teams for games on Lincoln Park, Somerville, on Monday and Friday evenings.

An evidence of its present form, the Bennets blanked the Boston Tigers, 3 to 0, in their initial encounter. Danny Martin, crack southpaw, let down the Tigers with six hits, and Peter Hartzell, his star catcher, assisted in his winning role by Hankins, Haley and Mahoney, engineers of three lightning double plays. Murdoch and Devine led the offensive onslaught.

Next Friday evening the Bennets will play the Federal A. C. of Cambridge, at all other dates are open. The team is especially desirous of meeting the Magoun Square Civic club of Somerville.

DOUBLE WINDUP AT NEXT TRIPLE A. SHOW

The Armory A. A. will stage a double card at its home at Mechanics Building on August 17. Paddy Flynn of Everett will clash with Nat Siegal, Revere welterweight, in one twelve-round tussle, while in another twelve-rounder Paddy Owens of Cambridge will have Danny Krammer of the city as an opponent. Danny Eagle of New York is billed to clash with Johnny Brown of Newport over the eight-round route, while Young Turcotte of Fort Strong and Young Kelley of South Boston will box six rounds.

HATHERLY CLUB PLANS GOOD TIME GOLF PARTY

The annual good time golf party at the Hatherly Golf Club at North Scituate will be given this week Friday and Saturday. A large number of Massachusetts golfers plan to attend.

George M. Barnum, chairman of the tournament committee, and George Hawley, club president, expect the largest crowd ever and have arranged an entertaining program, with something more than golf on it.

Francis Guimet and Paul Tewksbury will play an exhibition match. Jesse Guilford and Fred Wright will be there. Those planning to go by train should make the 8:10 or 11:40 on Friday or these trains and the 12:03 train Saturday.

BOSTON PRINTERS WIN FROM CHICAGO, 6 TO 4

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4 — Jack Smith, pitching for the Boston printers, struck out thirteen of the Chicago printers' team. The game was won by Boston, 6 to 4. Detroit won from Cincinnati, 18 to 3.

BRAVES TACKLE PIRATES AGAIN

Watson Elected to Hurl Against Cooper; Braves Capture Another, 3 to 2

By NICK FLATLEY.

The finish of the ninth inning rally is about all that remains out at Braves Field these days. It doesn't mean anything much, but it keeps the crowds anchored to the seats and furnishes some little excitement anyhow.

Twice in the past two days those Braves have surged in the ultimate chapter, almost defeated the Pirates, and then subsided. Whatever else happens, they're a game bunch and that's something to be thankful for.

The Pirates, who have now amassed three out of four, made their last appearance this afternoon, and were all set to tear right through, being back in the fringe of the wild scramble for places of vantage in the old league.

Gibson May Send in Portsider

Manager Gibson intended to use one of his star southpaws, Cooper or Hamilton, if the portside aliants looked promising in the warm-up work. Gibby goes to Brooklyn from this village, and the Dodgers are much more dangerous to offside performers than our Braves.

John Watson was ready to put the Tribe back on the victory trail. The Tribe hasn't been far off, but far enough to experience quite a deficit in the well-known averages.

Victories where they seemed certain in the past ten days would have enabled the Braves figure up to the fifty fifty point, and introduced the club back to real scuffling for glory.

McQuillan's Wildness Costs Game

The second 3 to 2 defeat by the Cubbies was at the expense of Hughey McQuillan, who cooked his own bash by bursting into wildness in the second chapter. He was picked for two hits and a regular run in the opening round, but he wrapped three bases on balls around an error and a couple of scratches in the following round, and the aforesaid bash was done to turn. Two runs without a hit.

That ended the hostile scoring, but 'twas enough. In all but six innings he has weathered Hughey, and he never grew wild any more, but the deed was all done.

Those Braves were as rash in the hands of the Senator hurler as Hughey Pondor was tossing for the opening eight chapters. They clipped off six hits in that time but were unable to combine them. Two perfectly fine triples by the Rabbitt and Lee Mann were wasted.

CAFFREY OF B. A. A. TO RUN AT SCOTCH GAMES

Who's Who on the American Olympic Team

TED MEREDITH, New York A. C.

For the second time Ted Meredith will wear the red, white and blue at the Olympic games. In 1912 he won the 800-metre run and was also a member of the winning 1,660-meter relay team. Ted will represent America this year in the 400-meter run and in the 1,600-metre relay. Meredith holds the record for the quarter mile with one turn, which he made at the Stadium in 1916. His mark was 47 2-5 seconds.

French Olympic Team Goes on Strike

By Universal Service.

Paris, Aug. 4.—The first recorded strike of amateur athletes in history took place here when the French Olympic team filed a demand for better trainers and better training quarters and withdrew from practice.

SOX IN FINAL WITH TIGERS

Boston Team Ready for Trip to Chicago After Stay in Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 4.—In turning the tables on the Tigers the Red Sox displayed a snappy game of ball and one that was excellently pitched.

Today wipes up the series here, after which the Boston boys head for Chicago.

Pennock richly deserved his 3 to 1 triumph as he held the Detroiters to a mere half-dozen puny hits, most of them infield taps. The Sox really deserved a more impressive victory, but several lucky double plays nipped them when they were about to score.

Good hitting in the first inning gave the Sox their first tally. After two were out, Menosky, Hooper and Johnston singled in succession, the first named scoring.

The Tigers pushed one over in the second. Veach opened the session with a triple. He was held on third while Witt threw out Heilmann but scored when Flagstead bounced a single into left.

The Sox moved ahead a notch in the fourth. Veach muffed Mclnnis' fly and gladly passed to second on the error. Scott scored him with a fine double to left. In the sixth the Sox added another, which also was assisted by an error. Hooper opened the round with a double to right. Schang attempted to sacrifice, but Ayers muffed up his relief. That put Hooper on third and in a position to score on McInnis' long fly to Veach.

BIG BRASSARD RACE AT REVERE TONIGHT

Wiley, Carman and chapman will have a chance to show their worth tonight when they line up against Vincent Madonna at the Revere cycle track in an effort to dethrone him as Brassard champion and present holder of the rich prize. The Italian motor pace star rules a slight favorite to win. In addition to the motor-paced race Manager Butler has arranged a bang up card of amateur and professional events.

COOLIDGE TO TOSS OUT BALL AT BENEFIT GAME

Governor Coolidge will toss out the first ball at the contest Friday afternoon between the Washington All-Stars and the U. S. S. Savannah at Fenway Park. The game which has been arranged to help the wounded soldiers at the Parker Hill hospital, is creating lots of interest among baseball fans and a big crowd of the boys did over there and there is every indication of a large attendance.

Screen Version Novelized

By Jane McLean

"TO South America," answered Ernesto, looking up after applying a lighted match to the papers.

"That's a long way from Seville," said the captain. "How'd you happen to hit on such a remote place—jolly romantic, I'd call it."

"I can forget myself there."

"Come, come," said the Captain, taking his arm, "let's go down to the Granada for a parting libation. What do you say?"

The poet nodded—his was a complaisant nature and he suffered himself to go with the engaging Englishman to forget for the present, at least, the tumult of emotions into which Julian's request had whirled him. As they departed the master of the house went to the patio and ordered a cup of tea.

When Teodora walked into the patio her eyes bore still the trace of fear that had seized her when Severo asked her companion to go to her husband.

Her tone showed a slight restraint, but she seated herself and took up the tea things as though nothing had happened and all the while her husband watched her, torn between his desire to be just and the seeming evidence that stamped the woman as unfaithful to him.

"Teodora," he said, "I have asked Ernesto to leave."

She looked with a start, repeating his words.

"You seem disturbed," he said, more coldly.

"Yes, Julian, because it seems so unjust, so unlike you—and your change of heart—it is so sudden. What has happened?"

He evaded a direct answer; "I have been thinking it over and I have decided that it is best for us —all. He is leaving for South America in a week or so."

She poured out his tea while he watched and the shaking of her hand did not escape him; the flush on her cheek did not escape him; he saw in every sign of regret an added reason for hasty action; bitterly he approved his own decision, reproaching himself that he had not acted sooner.

To such a depth had suspicion reduced Don Julian, only a few weeks ago a believer in friendship, in trust and loyalty.

Teodora said nothing, her very silence moved her husband to further fears; she cannot speak because she dares not; nevertheless he said trying to be nonchalant: "Well, you say nothing; what is your opinion of my action?"

"I have told you, Julian—I hate injustice and this is unjust."

He seemed to sense her real thoughts; and even as she raised her clear eyes to his, answering his question, he thought he saw in them sadness for this man going where he had hoped to read only love for the man remaining.

He took refuge in generalities: "The world is talking too much; I cannot let it go any further, we must put a stop to this scandal; it is my fault; I have sowed the wind, I must reap the whirlwind."

"And I?"

"And you, what about you, Teodora?"

"There never was a time I believed that you would let life engulf me with anything wrong or try to justify gossip like this."

"You see it really makes a difference," he managed to say; "you say so in words."

"A difference? All the difference in the world, to see you distrust me when I thought I had your trust as well as your love, as you have mine—what kind of a wife would I be if it didn't make a difference?"

He dropped his gaze and fiddled with his teaspoon; he steeled himself to refuse to be a party to this hypnotic influence of his wife. He could not give in again; once more he took refuge in the talk of the world.

"My dear, you must be like Caesar's wife, above suspicion; of my devotion you have had proof; we have been singularly happy, you and I; Ernesto is young, he has the world before him, he is the last person who would wish to remain here under the circumstances; he has said so; his going will be no hardship for him. Why should we make it one for ourselves?"

"I am not thinking of him," she said steadily. "I am thinking of you; you are my husband; he is your friend; to me he is nothing but a friend; but you, you are everything; and Julian, you no longer love me."

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND

Webster

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate

WEBSTER.
VARIATIONS — Weber, Webber, Weaver.
RACIAL ORIGIN—English; also German.
SOURCE—An occupation.

HERE is another family name which in one of its forms shows the influence of the medieval English method of forming the feminine from a masculine noun, but which is now obsolete. It is most interesting, too, as showing in certain of its variations an absolutely parallel development in English and German.

Webster and Weaver are exclusively English forms of the name. Weber and Webber are both English and German, and apparently about as widespread in one language as the other.

All of these names, descriptive of the occupations of the first bearers of them, come from the same root in the old Teutonic tongue, which is parent both to modern German and to medieval English through the Anglo-Saxon. It is the same root from which we derive the modern English words "weft" and "web" as well as weave. Indeed, the church and court records of medieval England show that the people of those days spoke of "Roger le Webber" rather than "the Weaver." The softening of the "b" into an "f" or a "v" has occurred only in comparatively modern times in English, and not at all in German.

"Webster" is simply the medieval English feminine for "weber." Under Norman-French influence its ending often was spelled "stre" instead of "ster," and it is from this spelling, with the addition of a "s," that the modern feminine ending "ess" or "tress" has been developed.

There is no name more honored in American history than the name of Webster, and no place in America more identified with the name than Hartford, Ct. Probably the first Webster in America, certainly the first noted Webster of Connecticut, was John Webster, who, before his career was ended, had been Governor Webster. He was a native of Warwickshire, England. With the Rev. Thomas Hook, who was his pastor, and other brave pioneer souls, he came to America and settled, after a sojourn in Cambridge, at Hartford, on what was later known as "Governor street." His journey to Hartford was memorable; the little band of settlers came over what is now the Boston Post Road, taking many days, driving with them 160 head of cattle.

From this first Webster, the family has been ever honored. The crest of the Websters is a sun, rising out of the sea. The motto is "Emergo," meaning, from the Latin, "I rise." Early in his life this first Webster gave evidence of his standing in his community by being allowed to use the term "Mr." before his name, which, in those days, was only allowed to persons of influence and standing.

Tomorrow—Brewster.

Anecdotes of the Famous

An interesting description of the late Marquis of Clanricarde, the notorious and wealthy Irish absentee landlord, is given by the late Lady Dorothy Nevill in her "Life and Letters," edited by her son, Mr. Ralph Nevill.

"Lord Clanricarde's youth had not been a happy one," says Lady Dorothy Nevill, "and as a young man he was completely overshadowed by his popular and handsome brother. In 1852, with a small allowance, he became attache to Sir John Hudson at Turin. Here, it was said, in order to save expense, he lived under the custodian of an arch to let him sleep in the small chamber where the latter kept his pails and broome; another rumor was that he was more or less his own tailor, for . . . In his old age his mother even his hat, was held together with a rough stitching. He never, no matter how bad the weather, took a cab—he never lost and never forgot an umbrella.

"A great student of prices, no one better than he knew how to get the most for his money. It is said that, having at one of his clubs discovered an absolute rule by which slices of ham were included in the table money, he set to work with such determination that the too liberal ordinance had to be hastily abrogated. A votary of tobacco, he was probably the most eccentric smoker that ever lived—a cigar, he said, was never at its best till the third time of smoking.

"It was lying among a drawerful of cigar stumps that he showed me the Albany the famous Cinque Cento jewel, said to be worth some £12,000, which Canning had bought from the Mogul's treasury at Delhi."

Use Less Meat and Prosper

By Loretto C. Lynch.

WITH the recent increase in the price of meat the country over, the average housewife is worried. Said a Louisiana housewife to me recently, "I do not know just what we are going to do. I went to the butcher shop to purchase some top round of beef to roast. The beef was 60 cents the pound. Think of it—why, a ten-pound piece would cost $6."

It is all very well to say don't purchase meat, but the average family does need a meat once in a while. But while I was thinking up some advice to give this woman I came upon a remarkable man. He was perhaps fifty. He looked forty.

"What are you ladies gossiping about now?" he inquired good-naturedly. And without a second thought I presented the problem to him. He smiled.

"Well," said he, "if you asked me a question like that two years ago I should have put you off and told you I was not interested in foods."

And then he went on to tell that after consulting doctors and getting some of every known medicine a specialist could prescribe, what the medicine and to eat meat only three times a week.

Was physician. He knew how well nigh impossible it is to quickly change the habit of a lifetime. And so he decreed—for the $50 fee —that Mr. C. might have any meat but pork on Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday at the principal meal of the day.

What did he have as the principal dish on the other days? Let's take Monday, for instance. Soup was excluded. But there was a delicious Spanish omelet. There were boiled onions, baked potatoes, cold slaw, chocolate pudding and frosted milk chocolate.

On another meatless day there were nut croquettes and cream gravy and fresh garden peas and spaghetti with tomato sauce and lettuce salad and custard pudding.

Not so bad, was it? And every day, instead of spending upwards of $1 for this luncheon, this man now expended 20 cents for milk and a few slices of stale bread.

In short, he attributed his wonderful health to this new, modified diet. Perhaps he has found the answer to the housewife's problem of the newest high cost of meat.

No solution, however, is possible to any problem unless there is cooperation. And before the housewife starts to reduce the number of times meat is served in her household during the week, she ought to lend a helping hand. It may be well to show that the increased cost is going to cause you a decided financial hardship to serve it every day, not to mention two or three times a day.

You might also appeal to the love of good health which we all possess but do not always apply to our daily lives. Do not, however, allow the family to fall into the dietary error of supplying the meat lack by eating an abundance of white bread.

If the family finds it necessary to eat more than two slices of bread at a meal, your meal is lacking in some respect. Try putting in more vegetables or try serving larger portions. White bread often causes the common condition known as "gassy stomach."

Among the substitutes for meat are: milk, eggs, fish, shellfish, wheat flour, peas, beans, lentils and nuts.

Try the modified diet and watch the family health improve.

An Imperfect Specimen

The small son of an electrical engineer is more familiar with the appliances of modern civilization that with objects of Nature.

When visiting in the country on one occasion he unhesitatingly picked up a hornet to inspect more closely its mechanism.

When his father hurried out to discover the cause of the commotion which immediately broke the peace of the Summer day, the little lad was ruefully sucking a thumb, while tears streamed down his face.

"Why, what's the trouble, sonny?" he was asked.

"It was that beetle thing," he managed to explain between his sobs. "I think his wirin' is defective. I touched him and he wasn't insulated at all!"

When a Girl Marries

By Ann Lisle

TO take upon myself the responsibility for Daisy's gravely responsible position with Tom Mason was one thing. To face the actual fact that I had sponsored a girl whom—I felt to be a thief and had entangled the possessions of Jim's friend was another.

This came to me with growing force all through the morning after Daisy had gone to take charge of Tom's antique shop.

My warrant of Daisy's honesty was falsehood. I was playing fairy god-mother at Tom's expense. The ethics of what I had done seemed questionable to me as I thought it all over.

One thing was clear, however. If I had it to do over I'd have to do the same thing.

I put in a miserable morning and started off in a pretty unhappy mind after lunch to call for Uncle Ned and Aunt Mollie. Driving the car wasn't a pleasant process, but for their sakes I felt I must do it. In a traffic block, as my car stood still waiting for a side street to empty itself across the avenue, my attention was attracted from lidstaring to half-awakened but eager interest. On the curb, waiting like me, stood a girl dressed in black, unnoticed but for the uneasy way she was watching me out of the corner of her eye and trying to hide something or some one from my notice. Naturally, as soon as I became aware of that, I focussed my attention on the girl and tried to place her.

In a moment or two I realized that the girl who was watching me so uneasily and trying to pretend that she wasn't watching me at all was Bertha, my ex-maid. On the inner side of the walk, instead of the outside, where he would naturally be, stood a man. He was slight, slim, pale and stoop-shouldered and under a flat-crowned cap pulled down so its shadow made his features an indistinct blur. Suddenly he seemed to become conscious of Bertha's attempts to block him from view. At once he turned and stared past her through eyes narrowed and squinting. For one second we focussed on each other. Then traffic moved, but without Bertha's ever acknowledging that there was some one near to whom she should have bowed.

I knew from the girl's actions, as well as from the man's tell-tale pallor, that this must be her convict husband. But on arriving at Aunt Mollie's hotel, a few minutes later, I edified it from my mind because of the greater problem which I couldn't dismiss—the problem of my unfaithless to Tom.

Instead of sending up word that the car was waiting and asking Uncle Ned and Aunt Mollie down to join me, I went up to the suite where they are always bowls of old-fashioned flowers. Uncle Ned's perpetual gift to his "bride". The little old lady, radiant in one of her tight-bodiced, full-skirted silks, greeted me with a hug and a kiss. Then she held me off at arm's length and called:

"Neddie, come here! Our little girl looks a mite peaked and worried. You see whether she needs some aromatic or a bottle of my blackberry julce."

Uncle Ned came striding out immediately from the inner room as he always does when Aunt Mollie summons him. He marched over, took my hands in his big ones and led me to the light. Then, after a grave inspection from his deep blue eyes, he marched me back to his wife.

"What this child needs is motherling," he said quietly.

"It is. Oh, it is!" I replied solemnly and with deep conviction. "I'd like to cry on your shoulder, Aunt Mollie."

"Come on, dearie, cry on your old Auntie's shoulder and then let your wise Uncle know just what's bothering you so he can tell you what to do," said Aunt Mollie, pulling me down on the big old-fashioned sofa that they had managed to have in their suite.

And all in a second I was blurting out my story.

"Once upon a time," I said, "a dear lad I know brought his wife a beautiful pearl ring for a birthday gift. There were three persons there at the time, and circumstances left each of them alone with the valuable jewel. It disappeared. It might have been taken by a servant who swore her innocence, or by the man guest who hadn't any possible motive for taking it. But the wife felt sure that the girl guest was the thief."

"Sure? Sure's a big word. Why was she sure?" asked Uncle Ned.

So—naming no names—I told of Daisy's love of beauty, or her envy and of the three minutes alone with temptation. When I finished, Uncle Ned came over and put his hand under my chin and made me hold my face to the grave scrutiny of his eyes.

SAY "DIAMOND DYES"

Don't streak or ruin your material with poor dyes. Insist on "Diamond Dyes." Easy directions in package.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

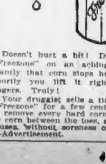
Try this! Brush Sage Tea and Sulphur Compound through your hair, taking one strand at a time.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store this ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This really-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

"CORNS"

Lift Right Off Without Pain



"Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. —Advertisement.

Girls, Don't Wash Your Face

Use Lisko cold cream instead (you have never used anything like it). Just try it once, and you will never be without it. Soap and water has a tendency to make the skin rough, and does not cleanse the skin as thoroughly as Lisko cold cream. To prove it, make this test: Wash your face with soap and water, dry thoroughly, then apply Lisko cold cream, massage it well into the skin, then wipe with absolutely spotless cloth, a soft white cloth; examine the cloth and see how much dirt has accumulated therein. Lisko cold cream cleanses, softens and beautifies the skin. For sunburn or after a dusty auto trip there is nothing like it. Try it the after-shave lotion. Eat bubby or brother try it. Lisko cold cream is put up in tubes, the only sanitary way. Try it tonight. You will be delighted. At toilet counters everywhere.—Advertisement.

Combing Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it,no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

A business woman writes: "There must be lots of women who feel as I did. I suffered in silence many times on account of my pride, but now I know that a good laxative is essential to good health. I neglected my health trying to keep cheery and pretending I was all right when I wasn't. I had terrible pains, was grouchy and my headache at times killed me with pain, and worst of all from my viewpoint I had a sallow, unbecoming complexion which was not helped by face powders. Why didn't I try to cure myself rather than pretend? After taking Dr. True's Elixir, I now know that a laxative was what I needed. Dr. True's Elixir is mild and pleasant to take, and works just right for me. My complexion clears up—bright and ruddy —blemishes vanished and every one remarked how much better I looked." —Mrs. E. J. B., New Auburn, Minn.

The root of many of the evils of sickness is the bowels, a very vital part of the human body.

A cold, a fever, disease or the like can be remedied at once, provided the operation of the bowels is normal—the first and most important relief can be had by giving a Laxative, but be sure it is the proper kind.

Most everybody in these days of quick action and strife forget their health. The laboring people bolt down their meals, often gobs bed right after eating, and wake up in the morning restless, force down a breakfast and then are distressed all day.

An Outdoor Worker says: "I couldn't puzzle out what made me feel so bad. My good, home-cooked meals didn't even taste good, and I had headaches and was grouchy. I never thought it was constipation, but now I know, for I took four little doses of your Dr. True's Elixir, and it fixed me up grand. I will never be without it again in case of constipation."—F. B. B., Allston, Mass.

The bowels need attention first and always. Rich foods, improper cooking, irregular and quick eating, lack of exercise can all be offset providing a mild laxative is taken regularly.

A Business Man writes: "The continual rush of office details, and the short meal hours I get, together with, I think, restaurant foods, has simply knocked my system all to pieces. I felt logy, and had no appetite until I took Dr. True's Elixir, as a Laxative. It is a great thing. No one should neglect their bowels."—Boston Business man.

Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, with an established reputation since 1834 (over 68 years) has accomplished the seemingly impossible. It has relieved thousands upon thousands of sufferers from constipation, which causes so many terrible disorders.

Dr. True's Elixir will benefit every one. The laborer will eat heartily and quickly; the office boy and girl who eat "fancies" and irregularly; elderly people who can't digest well and children who suffer from intestinal parasites.

Dr. True's Elixir means a big saving to health and pocketbook. At all druggists. Buy the large size.

COAL MOVEMENT SHOWS INCREASE

Drastic Orders of Commission Increase Bituminous Production to 90 Per Cent.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Reports received by the Interstate Commerce Commission indicate considerably increased movement of coal.

The series of drastic orders recently issued by the commission to break up the widespread shortage was said to be responsible for the improved conditions.

As a result of these orders it was estimated by officials that bituminous coal production, which has hovered around 65 per cent. of normal for nearly two months, will be stimulated to 90 per cent., possibly within the next 30 days.

Heavy penalties prescribed by the commission for every day's delay in unloading coal cars has accelerated the movement of cars back to the mines for refilling, reports show.

The order preventing the reconsignment of coal cars more than once, it was estimated, will at once be responsible for the almost immediate release of about 5,000 cars to the mines.

Atlantic City, Aug. 4.—Any possible fuel shortage during the coming Winter will be caused by the existing shortage in railroad cars, according to William Green, an official of the United Mine Workers.

Boy Scouts Tending Historic Park

Members of Troop 2, Lexington, Boy Scouts of America, located at East Lexington, with Scoutmaster Hunter in charge, have contracted to keep presentable Robbins Park at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street, in East Lexington, where the historic stone tablet stands.

The tablet is erected near the spot where at early dawn on April 19, 1775, Benjamin Wellington, a Minute Man, was surprised by British scouts and disarmed. With undaunted courage he borrowed another gun and hastened to join his comrades on Lexington Green. He was the first armed man taken in the Revolution.

The scouts have mowed the grass, remodelled the paths and raked the little plot.

You doubtless see the opportunities there are to make money if you can have control of sizable lots of German, French or Italian money during the coming months.

A 10,000 block of either Marks, Lire or Francs can be controlled for six months for $50 and if the exchange rate should rise to around the normal pre-war rate, the possible profit on such an option would be $900 and upwards.

RAILS ADVANCE, STEELS LOWER

Oils Are Irregular and Motors and Equipments Quiet During the Morning

By W. H. ROSS,

Financial Editor.

Stocks rallied weak in New York at noon, but prices showed improvement over the lowest level of the morning. Rails ruled higher, most steels were off and rubs were mixed. Movement. Equipments and motors were quiet and without definite trend. Trading was on a smaller scale, first hour transactions totalling less than 200,000 shares. Call loans were renewed at 7 per cent. Foreign exchange rates were lower and there was another slump in sterling. During the first hour demand was down 6¾ cents, to $3.84½.

Among strong rails were New Haven, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Delaware, Lackawana & Wesaern, Southern Pacific, Reading, Union Pacific, St. Louis & San Francisco, St. Louis & Southwestern, Baltimore & Ohio, and Chesapeake & Ohio. They were up from fractions to two points.

WEAK AFTER MIXED START.

At the opening price irregularity prevailed, but this condition was not for long. Offerings were in such volume that they could not be absorbed and within a few minutes losses outnumbered gains two to one. The range was narrow with few exceptions. A few issues advanced about a point on initial sales and greatest declines no more. Republic was the weakest steel, receding over four points within thirty minutes while Stromberg and Mexican Petroleum dropped two or more. Steels were under pressure from the start. Baldwin was the weakest equipment, but as a class this group were not as prominent as usual. Oils and motors were quiet also. Studebaker showing the largest early loss in the latter group. Rails had an irregular beginning, but the majority were off. But they rallied and before the first hour was over the majority were on. New Haven was a feature among carriers, first receding a fraction and more than recovering a little later. Chino sold at a new 1920 low on the first transaction. Coppers ruled fractionally lower. At mid-morning the market was still weak.

FOREIGN NEWS ADVERSE.

News from Europe continued to be adverse to bulls and was the basis for continuation of the bear attack. Reports from Poland also contributed to the weakness of sterling exchange. But contributary influences were large offerings of grain and cotton bills. Traders say that liquidation of stocks has been renewed this week, and that there are those who are of the opinion that the end of the downward movement still will not be reached for some time. Not only is there more fear that the Bolshevik idea will spread in Europe, but the domestic effect of the deflationary movement is being felt. Merchants are trying to turn stocks into cash at a time when public demand is diminishing and manufacturers are curtailing output because they see only a limited market ahead.

PRICES MIXED IN BOSTON

At the opening the Boston market was irregular and it showed no change in that respect during the forenoon. It was narrow in price range and lacking in breadth. Business was of less in volume than previously this week. In the second hour there were more stocks up than down. Orpheum sold at its lowest for this year to date. New Haven began with a point less, but recovered part of it before midday. Among strong issues were Calumet & Arizona, United Fruit, Gray & Davis and Edison. They were up about a point. Quincy held off a point.

Small gains were made by American Woolen preferred, Copper Range, East Butte, Libby, Swift International and Eastern Steamship, while among issues to recede fractionally were Lake Royale, National Leather, Carson Hill, Orpheum, Bigheart and North Butte.

CURB MORE ACTIVE.

There was more life to the curb when business began on that exchange, but its tone was weak early in the session. Among prominent issues were Eureka, Madonna, Mutual, Verde Mines and Texana. Strength was shown by Cascade and Eureka at the start. Weak issues were Arizona Silver, Crystal, First National, Madonna, Perception, Premier, Superior Oil and Verde Mines.

At the end of an hour Eurekas was up 1 cent at 25 cents, and Mutual 6 cents at 74 cents, while Verde Mines was off 2 cents at 70 cents and Texana 1 cent at 5 cents. Madonna had recovered its loss.

GERMAN MARKS OPTION

News dispatches say British Parliament has voted plan to advance Germany £5,000,000 ($25,000,000 normal exchange) to aid in securing coal for Allies. This shows two things:

First: Europe needs German coal and materials.

Second: Allies must aid Germany in order to secure them.

AS GERMANY'S CREDIT IMPROVES, MARKS WILL ADVANCE BUY OPTIONS ON MARKS NOW

We sell options good for six months on 1,000 marks and upwards, at rate of $5.00 per thousand.

$5.00 buy option on 1000 marks
10.00 buys option on 2000 marks
15.00 buys option on 3000 marks
20.00 buys option on 4000 marks
25.00 buys option on 5000 marks

Same rate per thousand on larger amounts with special terms on 100,000 marks options and upwards.

When marks advance during life of option above option price, the profit is $10 per 1,000 marks for each one cent advance or $100 on 10,000 and $1,000 on 100,000 marks.

Send check or money order for option on as many thousand marks as you would like to control.

We were the pioneers in the option field in all New England. Back in February when the Mark was selling for 1.03 we had a calling rate of 1.95. We then advised our hundreds of customers to take advantage of this opportunity. Those whose foresight was keen and who availed themselves of this opportunity are today our biggest boosters.

The books of this company are open for your inspection. We can give you names and data of the various people who took advantage of that low calling rate. We have more Marks under our option than any house doing foreign exchange in the State, if not in the country. For the benefit of out-of-town customers, we will keep open every night, Saturday included, until 10 o'clock. We advise an immediate purchase of options on Marks. We have specialists in foreign exchange—ready and willing to give you advice. Write in or call personally. We do business under our own name. Send for our booklets.

CHAPTER XVII.—Continued

"I WAS just making a sketch," she said. "It's a jolly commission—two bronze horses for the Hispano-Moresque Museum. The Cid is on one, Saindin on the other. I was just fussing with an idea when you rang."

An Irrational Time

He came and stood beside her, looking at the sketch.

"I've a fine glass-roofed courtyard in the rear of the studio for my animal models—horses and dogs and any beast I require," she explained. "This sort of thing comes first, of course, I think. I'll get Oswald to pose for the Cid."

She stood contemplating her sketch, the cigarette balancer between her fingers; then, of a sudden she turned swiftly around to confront him.

"Mr. Cleland, it is a dreadful and foolish and irrational thing that Steve has done, and I know you are justly angry. But—she is a darling in spite of being a feather-head sometimes. You will forgive her, won't you?"

"Of course. After all, it is her business."

Helen sighed:

"You are angry. But please don't lose interest in her. She's so loyal to you. She adores you, Mr. Cleland——"

A key rattled in the lock; the door swung open; into the dusky studio stepped a slender figure, charmingly buoyant and graceful in the fading light.

"Helen, they're to send our costumes in an hour. They are the most fascinating things——"

Stephanie's voice ceased abruptly. There was a silence.

"Who is—that?" she asked unsteadily.

Helen turned and went quietly away toward her bedroom. Stephanie stood as though frozen, then reached forward and pressed the electric button with a gloved finger that trembled.

"Jim!" she whispered.

Embraced Him

She stole forward, nearer, close to him, still incredulous, her gray eyes wide with excitement; then, with a little sobbing cry she threw both arms around his neck.

She had laughed and cried there in his arms; her lovely head and disordered hair witnessed the passionate ardor of her welcome to this man who now sat beside her in her bedroom, her hands clasped in his, and all her young soul's adoration in her splendid eyes.

"Oh," she whispered again and again. "Oh, to have you back, Jim, that is too heavenly to believe. You dear, dear boy—so good looking—and a little side-whiskered, now." She nestled close to him, laying her cheek against him.

She murmured:

"It seems too delicious to endure. You do love me, don't you, Jim? We haven't anybody else in the world except each other, you know. Isn't it good—good to have each other again. It's been like a dream, your absence. You gradually became unreal—a dear, beloved memory. Somehow, I didn't think you'd ever come back. Are you happy to be with me?"

"Happier than you know, Steve."

His voice trembled oddly and he drew her into his arms; "Good God," he said under his breath, "I must have been mad to leave you to your own devices so long! I ought to be shot."

"What do you mean, Jim?"

"You know. Oh, Steve, Steve, I can't understand—I simply cannot understand."

After a silence she lifted her head and rested her lips softly against his cheek.

"Do you mean—my marrying Oswald?" she asked.

"Yes. Why did you do such a thing?"

Old Days Remembered

She bent her head, considering the question for a while in silence. Then she said calmly:

"There's one reason why I did it that I can't tell you. I promised him not to. Another reason was that he was very much in love with me. I don't know exactly what it is that I feel for him—but he does fascinate me, always did, somehow. Even as a boy——"

"You didn't know him as a boy?"

"No. But I saw him once. And I realize now that I was even then vaguely conscious of an odd interest in him. And that time at Cambridge, too. He had that same, indefinable attraction for me."

"You are in love with him, then?"

"I don't know, Jim; I don't think it is love. I don't think I know what love really is. So, knowing this, but being grateful to him, and deeply sorry——"

"Why?"

"I can't tell you why. Perhaps I'll tell you some time. But I was very grateful and sorry and—and more or less moved—by Oswald. It's funny; there are things I don't like about Oswald and still I can't keep away from him. Well, an everything seemed to combine to make me try it——"

"Try what?"

"Marry him."

"What do you mean by 'trying it'?"

"Why it's a trial marriage"——

"Good God!" he said. "What do you mean?"

"I mean it's a trial marriage," she repeated coolly.

"You mean there was no—no ceremony?" he stammered.

"There wasn't any ceremony. We don't believe in it. We just said to each other that we'd marry"——

"You mean you're—you've lived with that man on such terms of understanding?" he demanded, white with rage.

"I don't live with Oswald. I live here with Helen," Stephanie assured the perturbed Jim.

"All I would consent to was a trial marriage to see how it went for a year or two"——

"Do you mean that what you've done is legal?"

"Oh, yes, it's legal," she said seriously. "I've found that out."

"And—you know wh-what I mean," he said, stammering in his anger. "Was that sufficient for you? Do you want me to speak plainer, Steve? I mean, have you lived with him?"

She understood and dropped her reddening cheek on his shoulder.

"Have you?" he repeated, harshly. "No——"

"Yes. I thought you under-stood. It is only a trial marriage; I've tried to explain that—make it clear"——

"What loose-minded, unconventional Bohemians call a 'trial marriage,'" he said, with brutal directness, "is an agreement between a pair of fools to live as man and wife for a while with an understanding that, if the ceremony shall ultimately confirm the irregularity if they find themselves suited to each other. Is that what you've done?"

"No."

He drew a deep, trembling breath of relief, took her in his arms and held her close.

"My little Steve," he whispered. "—my own little Steve! What sort of a trap is this he's led you into?"

"No trap. I wanted to try it."

LET OLD INDIAN FIGHTER LAND AFTER 3 MONTHS

New York, Aug. 4.—After having been detained at Ellis Island for three months for lack of funds, Richard Lacey, who, fifty years ago, served in Uncle Sam's army, fighting Indians in the West, was permitted to land, a bond of $500 having been furnished by a friend. Lacey, according to orders from Washington, will be permitted to stay in the United States at least six months. He came here when a boy and after his service in the army returned to Ireland.

DISPLAY SHOWS SKILL OF VEGETABLE GROWERS

The annual Summer field day of the vegetable growers of Massachusetts was held today at the market garden field station on Read avenue, North Lexington. A meeting of the Massachusetts State Vegetable Growers' Association was on the program. One hundred and fifty varieties of the vegetable crops were on exhibition. Several acres are used for insect control experiments were in operation, and there were nicely different plots showing the effects of different methods of fertilization.

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

Hughes' Attitude Toward Ireland Shows Australia's Dread of Japan

Premier Hughes of Australia made a speech recently which sent the cold shivers through the pro-English element of the British Empire.

He depicted the condition of the empire in ghastly colors. He said it was surrounded by foes on all sides; that it was being attacked from inside and out; that its enemies were everywhere, and that it was in greatest danger of total dissolution if it should lose a single one of its parts.

Then Mr. Hughes launched a tirade on Archbishop Mannix of Australia. He declared that the people of Australia could not support Archbishop Mannix in his policies, and that he was not so popular a man in Australia as the world outside seemed to believe. This attack on Archbishop Mannix was occasioned by Mr. Hughes' declaration in favor of the empire uniting to back up England in her attempts to hold Ireland within the empire.

It is of little importance whether Archbishop Mannix is popular in Australia or is not.

So far as we know, there has been only one test of his popularity. That test came when Mr. Hughes led the forces in favor of the compulsory military service law and Archbishop Mannix led the forces opposed to it. The law was defeated by the popular vote.

But the interesting and important thing is that Mr. Hughes argues that it is necessary for the protection of Australia to keep Ireland in the empire, because the empire is necessary for the protection of Australia for some years yet, and if Ireland were to go free it would mean the beginning of the end of the empire.

Of course, what Mr. Hughes means when he speaks of the interest Australia has in the protection of the empire is that Australia needs the imperial protection against the aggression of Japan, a Power which above all others she fears.

Australia and New Zealand are actually haunted by the dread of Japan. Japanese imperialism and aggression hang over Australia and New Zealand like a great pall day and night. These two countries have a small white population with immense areas of unoccupied land which they are holding for white settlement and for their own coming generations. The thought that horrifies them is that in their great isolation out in the midst of the Pacific, nearer Japan than any other great nation, they will fall the prey to Japan's overflowing population and their consequent land hunger.

Almost on the same day that Mr. Hughes made his speech, the Premier of Queensland, one of the great States of Australia, made a public statement concerning Japan, in which he declared that the British Government had constantly urged him to let down the barriers against the Japanese. This, the Premier of Queensland declared, Australia would never do, and never could do without committing suicide for the white race on the great island continent.

Great Britain is Japan's ally; her interests in the Pacific are quite different from American, Canadian and Australian interests. Her interests in the Pacific are strictly imperialistic. She is concerned to hold India for the purpose of commercial exploitation. Her alliance with Japan was, and is, for the purpose of protecting her dominion over India. England and Japan have formed an exclusive little League of Nations with their own Article 10, under which, among other things, Japan agrees to protect British interests in Asia against foreign aggression.

The interest of America, New Zealand and Canada and Australia and Russia are identical in the Pacific Ocean. America is not looking to take on more trouble or responsibility, but we venture to predict Australia, New Zealand and Canada would find a much more reliable protection in America than in Great Britain, without any axes to grind, but merely because it would jibe with our sentiment and interest.

America is as determined as Canada, New Zealand and Australia to prevent the Pacific Ocean being made a Japanese pond. Great Britain has a very remote interest in the question. If she could hold India, Egypt, Africa and her Eastern Mediterranean spoils, she would scarcely feel, by comparison, the loss of Australia and New Zealand.

Moreover, it is by no means certain that if Great Britain should cease to dominate the empire and should organize into federated States, and attempt to hold none against their will, it would be less strong than it is today.

Mexican Rebels Get as Their Peace Bonus a Year's Pay

Villa's soldiers, advices from Mexico say, "will receive a YEAR'S pay, to get a start in life."

Villa was a bandit who fought AGAINST his country.

Four and a half million American soldiers who fought FOR their country got TWO MONTHS' pay as a starter back into civil life. And it bought less than one outfit of clothes.

The moral is not to turn rebels in a military sense. Discontented Mexicans have had to do that, because it is the only way open to them to obtain results.

The moral is to elect a Congress which will do full justice.

(1) By voting an adequate bonus; and

(2) By providing the money through reduction in present wastes of government.

ON AND AFTER MARCH 1ST 1920, THE RAILROADS WILL BE UNDER PRIVATE OWNERSHIP MANAGEMENT AGAIN
WATCH THE BIG DIFFERENCE IN BETTER SERVICE AND EFFICIENCY
O.R. WILLIAMS

Government operation of railroads ceased four months ago and we were promised great improvements under the superior initiative of private ownership.

We get a direct increase in rates of $15 apiece a year, which may become $75 by the time it passes through the middlemen.

But where is the better service, the superior efficiency? Do you wonder that Uncle Sam begins to look anxious?

More Truth Than Poetry

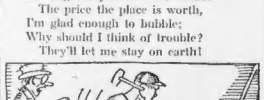
A Glorious Privilege

By S. E. KISER

DON'T come to me, complaining;
Don't try to make me sad;
I've little change remaining
To show for all my straining,
But things are far from bad.
I've got a job; I'm earning
The wages that I get;
I've solved the trick of turning
From little cares; I'm learning
That life's worth living yet.

DON'T come to me to grumble,
For I'll refuse to hear;
Short-sighted men may stumble,
And here and there a jumble
Of rubbish may appear,
But I am busy trying
To keep my vision clear.
You may have cause for sighing;
Beyond me there is lying
A future full of cheer.

IF others feel forsuken
Where worse has come to worst,
My courage is unshaken;
I've found a flat, and taken
It for October first.
Although they'll soak me double
The price the place is worth,
I'm glad enough to bubble;
Why should I think of trouble?
They'll let me stay on earth!



YOU KNOW THE KIND

Some people think they are being persecuted when others insist on finding out the truth about them.

Stars and Stripes

The man who gives his wife a bawling out for paying $3 for a pair of silk hose generally spends more than that every week for cigars.

We do not sing, "God save the King";
In manly freedom we rejoice;
Here in our Union of the States
The bosses name the candidates
And kindly let us take our choice.

Anyhow, the profiteers are not going to make much out of the fellows who used to eat coffee between the acts.

The fatted calf would be no novelty for the modern returned prodigal who has wasted his substance at the burlesque shows.

A Georgia man is advertising his desire for a wife who can hand him $100,000. Has he considered the fact that the dollar is worth only about fifty cents?

Ah, yes, 'tis bliss when in a kiss
Fond lips are brought together,
But once or twice may well suffice
In sticky Summer weather.

The man of few words is liable to use some darned mean ones when he opens up.

Now, if some one would name a cigar William Jennings Bryan, that would finish the business.

To serve as presidential elector helps out on a fellow's obituary notice. Otherwise there is not much in it.

The suffragettes are threatening to picket Candidate Cox and Candidate Harding, but Candidate Debs has no reason to fear that they will try to disturb him.

It's rare that we find a girl who's inclined
To have time for us still when our money's all spent.
And it's rarer by far to find seats in a car,
But what is so rare as a house that's for rent?

By K. C. B.

WE SPENT the week-end.
AT A country place.
WHICH IS just a camp.
WHERE AN artist lives.
AND IN the morning.
IT WAS very quiet.
AS A Sunday morning.
SHOULD REALLY be.
AND THROUGH the trees.
CAME THE early sun.
AND WHERE I slept.
IT SHONE on me.
AND I arose.
AND PARTLY dressed.
AND TIP-TOED out.
TO A washing block.
WHERE A basin lay.
BESIDE A stream.
AND I puttered around.
WITH MY cleansing things.
AND TOOK some paste.
AND SQUEEZED it out.
TO SCOUR my teeth.
AND IT tasted strange.
BUT I set it down.
AS A change of air.
OR MAYBE the water.
OR THE great outdoors.
OR SOME such thing.
AND BRUSHED away.
WITH MY head hung down.
AND ALL at once.
GREAT GOBS of foam.
CAME OOZING out.
FROM BETWEEN my lips.
AND I stood up straight.
TO LOOK at myself.
AND I looked quite mad.
AND THE paste was there.
IN ITS little tube.
AND I picked it up.
AND LOOKED at it.
AND I'D made a mistake.
FOR WHAT I'd used.
WAS MY shaving stuff.
AND JUST at the moment.
THAT I stood there.
MY FRIEND'S small boy.
CAME STEALING out.
FROM WHERE he slept.
AND SAW me there.
AND CALLED to me.
AND I turned around.
AND SHOOK my head.
AND SLEW the lather.
AND SCARED him stiff.
AND ALL day long.
I WAS sick from the stuff.
WHICH WAS almost as bad.
AS SOME salad dressings.
I THANK you.

SCIENCE IS IGNORANT OF LIFE'S START

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Is life spontaneous? After the formation of Mars, Earth, Venus, we'll say, enveloped with water, warm, growing slimy from contact with the various minerals, would protoplasm, jellyfish, amoeba, generate, showing discrimination in food selection, evolute to an independent intelligence which could classify and estimate the importance of all forms of life that had developed in the almost infinite interval of time that had previously elapsed? I was brought up in the Presbyterian faith as a thoroughgoing Bible student, and this seems almost heresy, and yet today it seems as though it must be true.—A. L. S., Honesdale.

SCIENCE has not yet attained to knowledge of the absolute beginning of life and may never do so. But such knowledge is not necessary to sustain the hypothesis of evolution. All that that hypothesis affirms is that, once started, organic life has progressed by a series of transformations instead of by a succession of independent creations.

As to the starting, science is ignorant, but converging lines of research suggest that the beginning of life on the earth was "spontaneous" in the sense that it arose by automatic chemical action a long time ago, under circumstances which apparently no longer exist, or which, at any rate, have so far successfully defied attempts to reproduce them artificially.

Such circumstances, or conditions, may have existed at the time when the primitive crust of the earth first came into permanent contact with the liquids formed by condensation from the highly complex primitive atmosphere. The fact that the earliest living forms appear to have originated in the shallow waters of the sea favors this hypothesis, as does also the great part that water plays in physiology.

There is nothing unreasonable or contrary to nature in the supposition that chemical combinations no longer possible now may readily have taken place when the earth was in an earlier stage of evolution. We are just beginning to learn that there is a deeper chemistry behind the atom, where transmutations formerly deemed impossible occur.

The more fact that protoplasm is the only essential "living substance" that we have been able to find on the earth, a substance without whose presence nothing lives, but which is fundamentally the same thing whether found in plants or animals, and whether the living organism formed of it is a single cell, or a complex creature comprising millions of associated cells, this universal fact seems to me in itself to furnish a strong proof that the first life had a chemical origin just as "spontaneous" as the origin of a diamond, or of any crystal.

To say this is not to "rob the Creator of credit" nor to deny His existence. Science does not and could not claim to have solved the final mystery of life by showing that the first and only living substance on the earth was formed by the interaction of chemical elements. It knows nothing of the origin of those elements. It only knows, as far as sense perception allows it to go, how the elements are man one another. It knows the "why" of nothing, but only the "how" of many things.

Letters to the Editor

In Re Railroad Wages

Editor Boston American:

Why is it, can you tell me, that certain newspapers, not the Boston American, emphasize again and again the fabulous wages railroad employes are supposed to get, and don't?

Why is it the same papers are silent about the recent princely gift from the government to the railroad owners?

This attitude on the part of many papers accounts for the dissatisfaction of the workers to some degree. Laboring men resent the persistent insinuation that they are mulcting the public, while capital gets what it wants without any protest.

The whole thing lends color to the charge of labor unions that a campaign is under way to rob the workers of such independence as they now have, and the further charge that many newspapers controlled by railroad money are a party to the plot. J. A. K.

CALIFORNIA SETS FORTH HER VIEWS ON JAPS

By Joseph Timmons

One of the Editors of the Los Angeles Examiner.

THE question at issue in California over Japanese immigration is not a question of the inferiority or superiority of the white over the yellow race, but of the impossibility of assimilation. If a hundred thousand Japanese were settled in any other State of the Union and the number were rapidly increasing by further influx and birth, that State would have a race problem.

Japan is so overcrowded that the mass of her laborers work for a yen—fifty cents—per day, or less. The pressure of her population on her food supply, especially rice, is so great that a Japanese laborer and his family actually can live more cheaply in California than in Japan. There has been no time since the Japanese first began coming over when the factor of higher wages was not operating to speed up that immigration in geometrical proportion; now cheaper living has become an added factor in the impulse.

Japanese have continued to come in, in spite of the "gentlemen's agreement," so that California's Japanese population has doubled since 1913. And in spite of a State law enacted in that year to prevent acquisition of land there has been a quadruple spread of Japanese control by ownership and lease of fertile land. So Californians propose to stop the leaks in the exclusion dam by certain new laws.

In 1913 California enacted legislation making it illegal for persons not eligible to citizenship to acquire ownership of land or to lease for more than three years. This legislation did not bring on war: it did not disturb the peace of the world. It was accepted as within America's treaty rights and within the legislative powers of the State. But it failed of its purpose. White lawyers helped the Japanese to render these acts dead letters.

A Japanese who cannot own land becomes guardian of his infant son or daughter and buying the land places it in the name of that native-born Oriental infant.

Groups of Japanese form corporations with white dummy directors and buy land. One Japanese leases land for three years, his comrade for the next three, his partner for the next three, and so on indefinitely.

The new act, proposed under initiative legislation to be voted on in November, seeks only to make effective the will of our people in 1913, which is still their will.

It is not true that the Japanese have taken up largely poor land which the whites could not profitably work. Largely they have acquired the best land, and when they get it the door there is closed to white settlers.

It is not true that California owes a debt of gratitude to the Japanese for the hard work they have done. The Japanese have prospered beyond their dreams, and they are lying awake of nights planning ways and means their cousins in Japan may enter into the promised land. We prefer that the State's development shall go a bit more slowly, if necessary, so that it may remain white and American.

If any Easterner has no concern whether the Pacific Coast States shall finally be Japanese or American, we Californians have no breath to waste on him. If there are Easterners who think a half-breed race out here would be an interesting experiment we can only invite them to try the experiment in the Mohawk Valley or on the prairies of Illinois. If sometimes a constantly growing unassimilable population on the Pacific Coast is not becoming a greater and greater national menace, we deplore their lack of understanding.

It is your problem, back there in the East, and you will get nowhere by decrying what California Americans tell you and swallowing whole every representation made to you by Japanese propagandists.

The Japanese people will never be satisfied with anything short of unrestricted immigration to California, Oregon and Washington. They will not go to cold countries or elsewhere to do hard pioneering. If the world gives Japan a free hand to extend her rule over Sinantung, Manchuria, Mongolia and East Siberia, Japan will become immensely stronger, but those lands will afford no outlet for her over-crowded population. Japan's constant pressure will be toward the Pacific Coast of America.
